WHO'S WHO on HORACE MANN AVENUE

FOREWORD

School has many sides. There are the books and classes to be sure, but there are also clubs and activities, sports, parties, dances, and most of all—friends.

Friends like the chap who borrowed your homework and returned it after class, or the classmate who left your frog's bones in the bleach just a little too long; the football hero who kicked the winning point; the lab partner who hit an all time high for accidents, or the girl across the hall who turned out to be the year's big moment . . . and how about "the voice" in chorus, or the shy little freshman who lit up when you gave her your lofty senior smile; the teacher whose right word at the right time gave the necessary boost for passing the course; the guy who fell asleep in history class every Monday, and the sophomore in assembly with a real case of stage fright . . . these and many others have made each day just a little bit special. Indeed, everyone we have known at school has helped to make us somewhat happier or a little bit blue, slightly amused or perhaps a little vexed.

So here they are—all the people in our high school; for everyone at Red Lion Area Senior High School belong in the WHO'S WHO ON HORACE MANN AVENUE.

Prom night . . . an enchanted spring evening never to be forgotten; and juniors and seniors happily share it with faculty and friends.

SPRING '60

HEADLINERS IN THE SPRINGTIME ACTIVITIES

In honor of retiring teachers . . . pleased with the interesting-looking package, Mrs. Bowers opens her gift from the association while Mr. Bowers looks on with inquisitive pleasure. The setting—the spring banquet at the Red Lion Country Club.

The '60 yearbook editors, very excited and rightfully proud of their efforts . . . while Gwen Grove busily stacks the 1700 books, she takes time to steal a glance over the shoulders of Faye Miller and Jill Grove at the finished product. Judging from the pleased expressions all their work must have been worth-while.

REPRESENT A WIDE RANGE OF INTERESTS

Our champs! A tired but happy baseball team victoriously leaves Small's Athletic Field after taking the York County championship from Northeastern in a really thrilling game, as the score 2–0 evidenced.

Weight-lifting? Arranging these rolls of straw matting was one of many ordeals for prom decorators Jeff Douglas, Henry Herrman, Dean Kinard.

'61 LION STAFFERS ASSUMING YEARBOOK DUTIES

Highlight of the press conference was the address given by Dr. Joseph Murphy, Director of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. His helpful hints should prove very useful in publishing "the best yet" yearbook or newspaper.

Indeed a rare sight, for it's not often that so many of the Leonid staff are so easy to find. Front: S. Warner, A. Johnson, G. Sweeney, B. Emenheiser, S. Sheckart, Q. Reider, R. Saylor. Second: S. Smeltzer, B. Urey, N. Sheffer, P. Goodyear, N. Hannigan, A. Rosenberger, J. Shue, R. Hively, J. Meckley. Third: R. List, J. Arnold, J. Craley, D. Haines, K. Landis, J. Bartholomew, S. Watkins, L. Orwig, W. Sechrist, A. Henry. Fourth: Miss Keeports, L. Grove, W. Leach, K. Overmiller, M. Hangen, J. Michael, M. Stein, J. Klinedinst, J. Poff.

AS THE LEONID REORGANIZES ITS NEWSGATHERERS

Anne Henry, Joan Mundis, JoAnn Wilson, Wendy Baerreis and Jetty Craley of the Lion and Leonid staffs enjoy the opportunity to exercise their vocal chords during a pre-dinner song fest at the press conference.

. . . and so the eager journalists, full of fresh ideas undertake their respective tasks. Anxious to apply the helpful information they obtained at the annual press conference, advisers and staff members alike settle down to the task of preparing a record of school activities for everyone. News reporters and editorial writers are searching for new and clever means of depicting events, while typists are discovering the joys of reading everyone's handwriting. Photographers seem to be everywhere with those popping flash bulbs, as the make-up staff searches for new and clever formats which they will use in the fall. Business managers are realizing that their big problem will be money—or the lack of it.

Occasionally an unusual incident interrupts the buzz in the activity office . . . for instance one of the Lion staff typists managed to get caught in the typewriter and caused a small commotion while the rest of the staff tried to extricate her. And the activity office is not the only place disrupted by our well-meaning workers. A distinctly audible gasp was heard during the dinner at the press conference when the publication's number-one photographer stood on his chair to obtain a pictorial record of the event.

Thursday morning finds the activity office filled to overflowing with the LION staff (sans photographers . . . they're working with Mr. Shaffer). Front: B. Smeltzer, A. Wierman, C. Steckel. Second: P. Bonness, L. Grim, M. Howard, S. Stewart, J. Mundis, K. Taylor, T. Cope. Third: J. Taylor, N. Yeater, R. Stabley, P. Burke, C. Horn, G. Amspacker, W. Baerreis, G. Newcomer, L. Grove, E. McKinley, Miss Clevenger.

SOCIALLY- INCLINED CLASSMATES — SOME

Life can't be all work and no play as these Red Lion students and guests seem to prove! Nancy Fogle and Wilbur Brenneman, Judy Sprenkle and Charles Sechrist, Jo Sedgwick and Joe Coeyman are among those enjoying themselves at the Varsity Club's dance.

Varsity Club members give their record hop a special boost by having the popular WSBA disc jockey (and one-time Red Lion student), Wayne Trout . . . Dick Stein, club president, is Wayne's on-the-spot assistant.

"Pot Luck" . . . just what the Council ordered; and fun-loving Carolyn Frits and Harry Lohss don't mind a bit.

ENTERTAINING, OTHERS BEING ENTERTAINED

Carol Steckel and Leona Grim enjoy the tea part of the annual Library Tea by helping themselves to some of the appetizing refreshments . . . they enjoyed the rest of the program equally well.

. . . all join forces in providing our high school with a wide variety of social affairs. One can find anything from a record hop to an afternoon tea offered by the ambitious friendly members of some of the school's clubs. For our Student Council there's nothing like a good dance for diversion from work. The admission to "Pot Luck," the Council's dance, was a matter of pot luck, as is inferred by the title of the dance. The "Varsity Hop," contribution of the Varsity Club, had disc jockey Wayne Trout to brighten up the affair a little bit. The Future Teachers joined a group of our present teachers in a wholesome breakfast, and the F.F.A. boys joined their parents in an equally salubrious Parent and Son Banquet, with entertainment provided by the students and visiting speakers. These activities were complemented by the annual tea held by our competent library force in the library; for their guests —punch, a talk by Miss Shorey of the York Library, and special numbers by some of the musical groups within the school. It has been quite a spring socially!

Taking on a festive air, the school's cafeteria finds itself in use by F.F.A. members, as they entertain parents and guests at the Future Farmers' banquet.

Finally a chance to relax for Gloria Newcomer, F.T.A. hostess who's been busy serving a pretty hungry faculty. Mr. Zerbe, Mr. Hangen and Mrs. Baerreis seem to find the F.T.A. a group of good cooks.

NEW FACES BROUGHT INTO THE LIMELIGHT BY

Another of the bard's characters comes to life through the talent of Mr. Rank . . . the drunken gateman from "Macbeth."

Evidently the sound of the auctioneer's voice did not agree with this lamb . . . Barry Flinchbaugh does his best to return order!

ASSEMBLIES, CONCERTS AND A NIGHT OF MUSIC

. . . these make for a more interesting year of activities. There was the Easter program in which Dramatic Club members, assisted by the chorus, presented a play symbolizing the mistaken ideas of discipleship. Guestwise, we had Jack Rank in a professional assembly, portraying characters in scenes from Shakespeare. Our Future Farmers also took the stage to outline their activities by skits and commentary.

Spring is the time for concerts which have become more or less traditional. The Sunday afternoon band concert scheduled for the park was rained into the auditorium, and the audience exchanged outdoor atmosphere for comfortable chairs. The big moment for the department came on April 30 when the Night of Music gave all our young musicians a chance to shine. The program featured choruses, instrumental groups, several solos, and was topped off with a majestic combined number.

Coming down the platform from the white arch and vine-covered arbor are Gloria Gipe and her wee friend . . . in their assembly, the F.H.A. girls model the clothes which they have made in home ec.

The Mixed Chorus on the risers and the Girls Chorus on the left and right stage aprons blend their voices with the band in the grand finale at the close of the long-to-be remembered Night of Music.

BASEBALL CHAMPIONS—OUR PRIDE AND JOY AS

The BASEBALL team that "brought home the bacon" for Red Lion. Front: E. Gohn, W. Grim, N. Ruff, F. Tyson, R. Brenneman, K. Stearn. Second: D. Fitzkee, J. Grove, W. Shaull, L. Orwig, G. Warner, G. Wise, E. Fake. Third: D. Baldwin, D. Laucks, R. Grove, T. Workinger, B. Lloyd, R. Schmuck, H. Lohss, L. Markel, D. McGinnis, F. Warner. (Not pictured: D. Stein.)

Both dust and player fly as Dick Stein tries to reach third to build up the Red Lion score. Coach Fitzkee looks on and signals Dick to tag up.

THEY BRING THE TROPHY TO HORACE MANN AVENUE

Larry Orwig races home as the opponent catcher waits for the throw from his teammate in the championship game at Small's Athletic Field.

. . . and this means one more for our thriving collection. To coin a phrase "They said it couldn't be done," but this didn't hold water with our Lions and their coach, Mr. Fitzkee. They practically monopolized the Southern Division all season and captured its title for the fourth year running. Our capable record fixer, Floyd Warner, didn't have much work this season in the replacing department. The records were almost a pleasure to keep, if that's possible. However, our good season did have some faults, or you might say disappointments. Our old time rival and next door neighbor, Dallastown, managed to sneak a loss into the Lion's eleven game winning streak during our bid to become champs. Even though this became the first county baseball trophy to enhance the growing display of awards in our new trophy case, it was our ninth county award in the last thirty years. In a thriller with Northeastern, the Northern Division champs, at Small's Athletic Field before a relatively small crowd of fans, the Lions combined not only teamwork but individual skill to outmaneuver their invading rivals and clinch the penant. However, all good things must come to an end and so a rewarding season came to a close and our team finished in a winning way, both in record and companionship.

Gary Warner scores one of the two runs which the Lions received in the game with our close rivals from Dallastown when Red Lion lost by a heart-breaking score of four to two.

MR. NITCHKEY'S GOLFERS, RECENTLY BOLSTERED

Mr. Savastio earnestly watches his approach shot to the eighth green in the closing holes of the student-teacher match. By Chuck Horn's expression its outcome must not have been too good (for the students!).

Earl Gohn, Ken Ruby's caddy gives all the help an expression can give as Ken putts on the ninth hole. Ruby's opponent used geometric reasoning to its fullest but still ended up on the short end of the score.

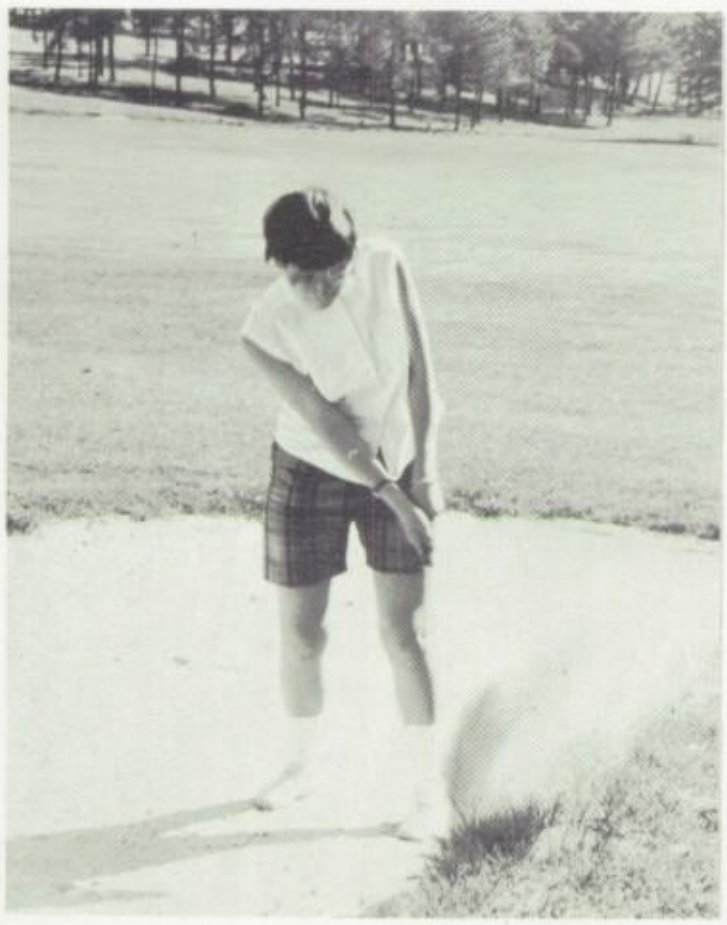
WITH SOME FEMININE SKILL AND PULCHRITUDE



Mary Lauer blasts from a difficult lie in the sand on the third hole. Despite her efforts, Mary lost to her classmate, Holly Jo Grove, in the intra-squad match.

. . . so now our male golf team can find a little more joy in the afternoon practices at the Red Lion Country Club golf course. According to present rules girls may not compete in school team matches, but this does not dampen the spirits of our enthusiastic female sportsmen . . . they're plugging to get that rule changed. Maybe soon it will be the accepted practice to have a girl's golf team competing interscholastically.

Golfing is an up and coming school sport . . . this was the first year that our golf team has had a league schedule with six other York County schools. Because of the newly formed league, letters are now being given to the top scorers and faithful members of the golf team. In addition to these innovations and a reasonably good collection of scores, the season produced some unforgettable moments —the time Tim Shelly almost had a hole-in-one; the day the team got lost on the way home and didn't get back till after 9:00; the dispute Chuck Horn had with a West York golfer over two infractions of the rules, which was later decided against Red Lion by a few local professionals; and last but not least the unmerciful beating of the faculty in their annual match.

Tim Shelly tees off in the student-teacher match. In the background Bill Sechrist, an ardent student of the "slammer," studies his form carefully.

David Rost grits his teeth as he lets fly with his trusty putter on the practice area. An up-and-coming golfer, Dave hopes to break into the starting five next season.

ENERGETIC TRACKMEN DISPLAYING AGILITY

The '60 TRACK TEAM, all set for a busy season—Front: H. Anstine, R. Garner, L. Mitzel, G. Hildebrand, J. Enfield, D. Seiple, D. Smuck. Second: R. Smith, J. Kreeger, G. Smeltzer, J. Hall, D. # AND STRENGTH IN INTERSCHOLASTIC COMPETITION

He leaps through the air with the greatest of ease . . . it's Donald Stephens doing his level best for Red Lion in the broad jump.

. . . and they opened the season in the first track meet of the county. In order to be prepared for their opponents from nearby schools, the fellows started their training way back in February in the sleet and snow. Not only have our trackmen become excellent marksmen by firing snowballs, but excellent dancers as well with new steps learned while dodging cars during practice. One of Mr. Richards' favorite exercises was to make the boys run down to the end of Pine Street and back, and faithful Mrs. Fitzkee at Number 714 saw that all the guys ran the full distance.

Disappointed in our start, the team worked very hard and consequently showed marked improvement as the season progressed. To be sure the most exciting meet was Red Lion vs. Susquehannock. The score was close and uncertain up to the very last event, the mile relay. The Lions rallied round and our team consisting of Donald Seiple, Lonnie Mitzel, John Enfield and anchor man Donald Rau placed first, earning a total score of 50–41. One of our best and most unusual runners was John Enfield, who has a style all his own. In the Dallastown meet Enfield came up from last position to win the event in the mile run. For several weeks Donald Strine was fortunate enough to hold the best timing in the county for the 100-yard dash. It should be added that the ninth graders had the opportunity to compete separately and the results offer promise for next year's track team.

"They're off and running!" Joe Lane, Tom Galbreath, and Ed Hauser run alternately in the 220 yard dash against the freshmen of Dallastown Area Schools.

FOR FEMININE ATHLETES, G. A. A. ACTIVITIES

. . . in these they compete with almost indomitable skills. Gentle in manner but vigorous in deed they played not only against each other but also against members of teams from other schools. On Play Day these athletic-minded girls played basketball with the girls from Eastern. Their motto must have been "to be rather than to seem" for they made a good showing and after several exciting games were hailed the winners. Later, doughnuts and milk were served to curb growing appetites and all the girls enjoyed the chance to talk and make new friends. The whole day was a great success.

Besides basketball, G.A.A. members held track and field meets and played softball. Last year the girls in G.A.A. participated in the county track meet which unfortunately, was not the situation this year. The girls were active only in the school track meets, but they derived a great deal of enjoyment from running relays and races with schoolmates. In the line of softball, teams were made up according to grades and often the underclassmen defeated overwhelming odds and put some of the older and wiser girls in their places. The softball games took place in the large athletic field across the street except when they were rained into the gym. All together the girls had a well-rounded athletic program which included a little skill and plenty of fun.

The warming-up period has given Susan Thompson some extra determination. She and her softball teammates are making an all-out effort to defeat their opponents in this one-of-many rousing games played by G.A.A.

Racing full speed ahead, four members are eager to come in first. The alacrity of these girls—Cheryl Henninger, Janice Brown, Carolyn Eveler, and Nina Beth Landis—is being tested here by Miss Sweeney and Mrs. Smith who are supervising the girls' track events.

CIVIC-MINDED ATTRACTED BY STUDENT COUNCIL

Election of Student Council officers is a popular event . . . Jo Sedgwick and Jay Wolf check registration of voters; Larry Orwig, satisfied with his final decision, places his ballot in the box.

. . . with election time in the offing, students displayed an avid interest in the selection of the leaders of their governing body, and found the planks of each platform interesting topics for discussion. As the day of decision drew near, final plans were formulated for the assembly in which the candidates would truly come into focus. Campaign managers and loyal supporters plastered the walls with posters, and handed out hundreds of campaign buttons.

So election day arrived to find most students quite eager to cast their votes. Enthusiastic Student Council members participated by working at the polls, constructing booths and counting votes. When the results were revealed the student body happily discovered that Floyd Warner was to be the new president. His five years of experience in working on the Student Council should stand him in good stead as he undertakes the responsibilities of keeping wheels running smoothly. Michael Young came out on top for the vice-presidency, and Susan Grim became secretary.

When the representatives are elected in the fall, the Student Council will begin to function under new leadership. A great variety of tasks will come under its jurisdiction—pep rallies, our lion's suit, the Christmas tree, a mock presidential election—all these and many more behind-the-scenes jobs will be on the agenda.

Trying to influence the students, and win their votes, Don Baldwin transports candidate Wendy Baerreis around the school area; in the back seat, none other than the grand old lion.

Jo Sedgwick and Rae Snyder lead the campaigners in singing Trisha Bonness's campaign song!

TALENTED STUDENTS IN THE ROLE OF EXHIBITORS

In English class Janet Boyd displays her doll dressed in the style of Medieval days.

Mr. Richards and Morris Ronemus wear pleased expressions as the visitors to the exhibit in the art room look intently at an especially interesting and, to some, puzzling phase—the abstract paintings.

WITH PROJECTS OF INTEREST TO ALL

. . . they prove there is no dirth of ingenuity on Horace Mann Avenue. In a school with so many students there is bound to be a wide variety of interests, artistic, scientific, and practical, and these interests come to the fore in projects throughout the year. Some cases find projects required but often they are done to satisfy the curiosity or ambitions of energetic students; but whatever the reason, something is always gained.

Some of the departments held open house this spring and invited the public to view the exhibits of their projects. The aesthetic were attracted to the art room where they found paintings, sculpture, printing and all kinds of crafts, jewelry making, basketry, woodcarving and pottery. In the line of the more practical arts the home ec and the shop had their exhibits too. The girls displayed the clothing they had made throughout the year and the boys displayed a wide variety of projects including woodworking, metal work and printing. The science fair found three lab rooms filled to overflowing with science projects of all sizes, types and varieties. There were physics, chemistry projects and biology projects to attract curious examiners and attract they did, as did all the exhibits.

Science exhibits in the chemistry room attract the attention of visitors Terry Jamison and Joel Michael, probably because many of them are handmade and unique. Projects ranging from telescopes and radios to dyes and bacteria have been done by enthusiastic science students, some plugging for better grades, others just enjoying a new challenge.

PROUD AND RIGHTFULLY SO—THE ELITE

Two years of hard work pay off . . . Ruth Ann Hively, Quinetta Reider, Mary Ann Hangen, Jane Poff, Dorcas Haines and Karen Overmiller have just received their membership certificates from the National Latin Honor Society.

Miss Keeports presents journalism pins to staff editors David Hively, Lona Grim, and Ronald Arnold for their work above and beyond the call of duty. This was the first year for Leonid awards.

WHO RECEIVE REWARDS FOR THEIR HARD WORK

It's a smiling Mr. Zerbe who receives these hard won baseball trophies from Dick Stein and Jan Grove. His expression reflects the feelings of the whole student body.

. . . they are pleased to accept the tokens awarded for their efforts. In the field of special awards, Ray Kornbau was recognized by Lebanon Valley College for work in chemistry; Donna Seaks received a scholarship for elementary education; Tim Shelley was winner of the social studies test, and winners of the American Legion's annual essay contest were David Keperling and Lona Grim.

The usual school awards covered sports and extra curriculars, as well as academic work. In athletics trackmen and baseball players, and this year for the first time, golfers received letters and certificates; for the gals, there were G.A.A. and cheerleading awards. In the business department an award of merit and the best typist award went to two seniors. Then, tables turned and the department presented the retiring Mrs. Bowers with a bouquet of roses. Lion and Leonid advisors presented certificates to faithful, hard-working staff members—another first. The music department had its share too—Mr. Ward presenting the awards for orchestra, color guard and band, and Mrs. Adams handling those for Girls Chorus and Mixed Chorus.

And last but by no means least, came the honor societies . . . Latin Honor Society certificates went to six deserving sophomores; National Athletic Scholarship Society, emphasizing brain-plus-brawn, added fifteen members; the National Honor Society, with character, service, leadership and scholarship requirements, accepted thirteen juniors and thirteen seniors.

GRADUATING SENIORS — SOME SAD, OTHERS HAPPY

These senior girls, garbed appropriately, entertain the student body for the last time during their class day program with a folk dance Swiss style!

Dusting the floor of the Country Club is the self-imposed task of Kris Landis and Floyd Warner . . . this is one of the unusual games played at the all-night party.

The finale to four years of high school has come for the two hundred and seven members of the Class of 1960 as they await the next event in their graduation ceremonies. Knowing that in a few short minutes they will be seniors no longer,

AS THEY END THE YEAR IN A WHIRL OF ACTIVITY

In addition to her diploma, Nina Beth Landis receives a smile and a handshake from Mr. Sample as she becomes an alumna of Red Lion Area High School.

. . . a time never to be forgotten. One of the most enjoyable occasions of the year's end was the long-awaited prom night. From eight to eleven, seniors, juniors and guests danced in the tropical setting of "Adventures in Paradise." After the formal dance everyone headed for the gym locker rooms to change for the movies and all-night party planned by the Lions Club. Games, swimming, eating . . . it was an exhausted, but happy gang that was transported back to the high school at 6:30 A. M.

On class day seniors displayed talents in music, pantomime and dancing at "Ye Olde Inn"; mistress and master of ceremonies were the ever-active Jill Grove and Ronald Arnold. The scepter handed over to the class of '61, the seniors wound up the activities with their class version of "Now is the Hour."

Last, but not least, among these memorable activities was graduation . . . the Baccalaureate Service on June fifth, Commencement on June seventh. On these occasions the seniors and friends were on the receiving end of two inspiring addresses by the Reverend Dr. Mervie Welty and Dr. Gilbert D. McKlveen. Four students also spoke at Commencement on the theme, "Challenge of the Sixties." Mr. Sample presented the class, diplomas were distributed, and suddenly seniors became alumni.

they are full of mixed emotions as they complete their final and most memorable performance at their alma mater, Red Lion High School.

There's just nothing like it . . . a brisk fall day, a crucial game, and an overflow crowd of enthusiastic rooters for the home team.

FALL '60

INTRODUCING SOME OF THE FALL'S HEADLINE-

The coming of the traditional West York pep rally finds three of the juniors—Chuck Horn, Jan Uhler and Joel Michael—working away on the smoke pipe for their steam roller. All the cold nights were worthwhile . . . their float took first place!

A fitting climax to a season of hard work on the football field is the winning of the West York game and subsequent presentation of the principal's trophy to Mr. Zerbe by co-captains Warner and Keesey.

Another home game finds the team's most loyal bench-warmers, Dr. Dellinger and Dr. Cope, braving the elements to be available to any injured player. Athletic Director, Mr. Nitchkey is rushing around while Judy Walker in the background is doing her bit for the team.

HITTERS AT RED LION AREA SENIOR HIGH

This homeroom of freshmen gets a guided tour and a special explanation of library facilities from Miss Myers . . . useful information for the four years ahead. Right now, it's the stand for atlases and dictionary that rates the introduction.

The tables have turned on Mr. Ziegler as Jetty Craley puts him through the rigors of isolation-booth quizzing during the Leonid Assembly.

The story behind that bouncy enthusiastic lion, the Red Lion mascot . . . Brenda Smith with her costume stops to chat in the lobby with cheerleader Judy Bartholomew just before a game.

THE TEAM OF AREA OFFICIALS WHO KEEP

MR. FREDERICK P. SAMPLE, B.A., M.Ed. . . . Supervising Principal . . . His is the enormous task of handling the business of the entire area. Although he has a mountain of procedures and forms, he somehow finds enough spare time to indulge in a bit of relaxation, enjoying reading and athletics.

THE WHEELS OF THE SCHOOL SYSTEM TURNING

The operating committee in session following the organizational meeting of the entire school board in December—Front: H. Stump, R. McCliment, Dr. Dellinger, E. Moore, S. Grim, C. Seitz, R. Barnett. Second: D. Grove, W. Shue, C. Smith, L. Grim, H. Lohss, H. Horn, L. Craley, J. Pomraning, H. Brenneman, L. Kennedy, P. Barnett, R. Downs.

LION AREA SCHOOL

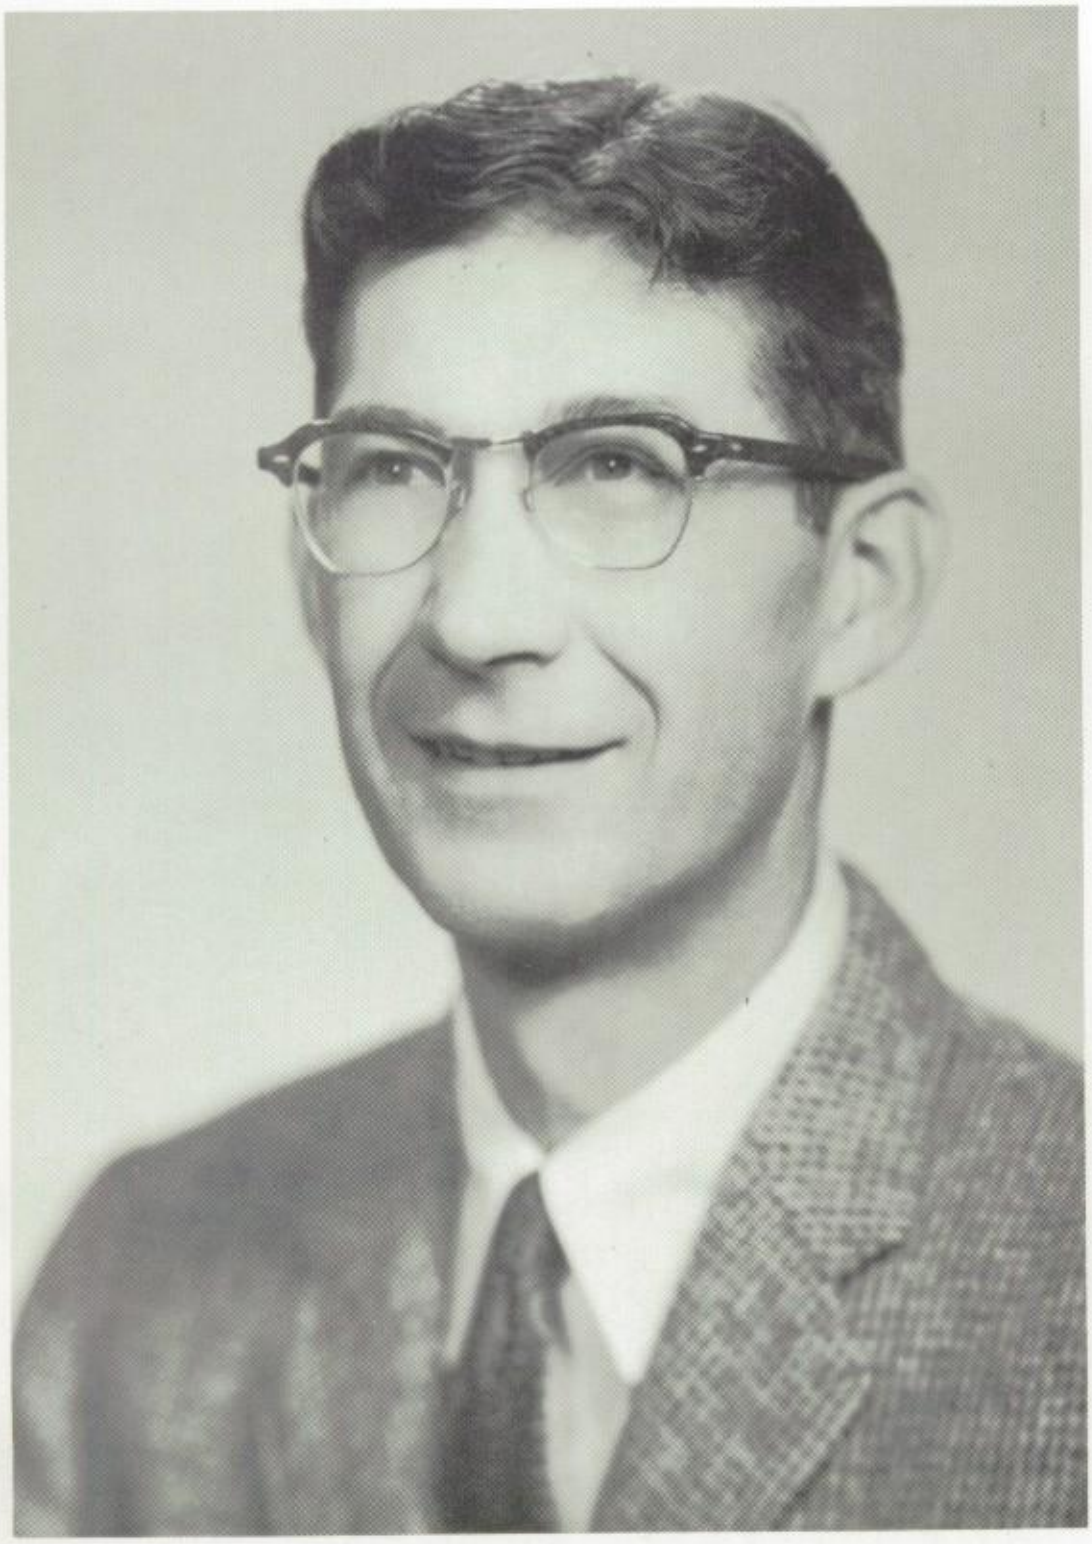
WINDSOR TOWNSHIP: Harry E. Stump, Roy W. McCliment, Carl E. Smith, Walter W. Shue, Harry A. Lohss.

WINTERSTOWN BOROUGH: Lawrence J. Ream, Luther E. Grim, William G. Enfield, Gerald L. Mitzel, C. Homer Gembe.

. . . for them, since the forming of the jointure in July 1954, the task has really been big business. Red Lion Area School draws its students from the surrounding population of approximately 17,300, spread over a one hundred fifty square mile area. Naturally, no secondary school can hold classes in a tent; instead, a school needs many classrooms for a number of varied uses and the Red Lion Area School is no exception. It has continually expanded until today it contains ten separate buildings, which like the newly constructed senior high school are composed of a few connected wings or buildings. Commanding this garrison of 3100 students is a faculty of one hundred seventy-nine. As everyone knows, in some strange way, the buildings become dirty and disorderly and for this reason twenty-two custodians are employed. To handle the secretarial work and bookkeeping for such a system, there are twelve secretaries (they do a great job of typing and mimeographing hundreds of tests for the pleasure of students!) These people of varied skills and occupations are all brought together into one great organization . . . the Red Lion Area School.

MRS. JEANNETTE TROUT as secretary to Mr. Sample knows all the many various details involved in the operation of the schools of Red Lion Area.

THOSE HARD-WORKING INDIVIDUALS IN THE OFFICE



Mr. Thomas E. Zerbe, B.S., M.A. . . . High School Principal . . . With evaluation in January, Mr. Zerbe has had a busier-than-ever year trying to keep his committees operating on schedule. However, he does manage to enjoy interests of long standing—photography and music or golf and fishing.

Mrs. Jackowick and Mr. Yorks consult Mr. Zerbe about school supplies while Mr. Beckley and Mr. Yinger collect their mail and announcements.

WHO OPERATE THE CONTROLS FOR OUR HIGH SCHOOL

. . . they're responsible for the minute details important to the curriculum set-up; to have nine hundred students properly placed schedule-wise and accounted for each day of the school term is no mean achievement. There are the college prep students with their eyes on further learning, anxious to acquire all possible prerequisites for college entrance. Then there are those with a more immediate practical need . . . these may be found specializing in home ec where the girls prepare for homemaking careers; in industrial arts where the fellows acquire special manual skills; in ag where, obviously, the emphasis is on farming; or in the commercial course which offers business techniques. In addition, Red Lion has a basic fundamentals course which is self-explanatory.

In operating a high school the size of R.L.A.S.H.S. curriculum scheduling is the major part, but still it's but a part of the over-all job. Extracurriculars must somehow be worked into the day's eight hours. Announcements, routine business, homeroom and class activities, a few complaints and occasional discipline problems . . . all are in the day's work.

Even in the early part of the school term, the office seems to be a busy place . . . Diane Smith, Kirby Hickey, Roger Holtzinger, Sandy Mobley, Ruth Ann Keller and Gary Arnold all wait for Mrs. Baerreis to issue the blue admittance slips.

The secretarial staff that keeps the office humming . . . Miss Donna Waltemyer, secretary to Mr. Tschop and the Sheckarts, Miss Betty Craley who handles finances, Mrs. Baerreis, secretary to Mr. Zerbe, and Miss Diane Paules, official switchboard operator.

HELPFUL PEOPLE WHO OFFER SPECIAL

MR. MARTIN F. MILLER, B.A., M.Sc. . . . Home and School Visitor . . . Old coins and O-gauge trains hold a fascination for this man who is also an advocate of good literature.

MR. CARL E. SEITZ . . . Secretary of Board of Education . . . Mr. Seitz pursues a wide range of interests from music and poetry composition to hunting and politics.

MR. ROBERT P. TSCHOP, B.S. . . . Administrative Assistant . . . Ordering, receiving, and distributing supplies for the coming year filled Mr. Tschop's summer.

Left: Joe Furst and Karen Overmiller, with students from other schools, get valuable information from the Lebanon Valley representative at College Night. Right: Mrs. Rexroth gives her professional attention to Bonnie Warner who is wielding the thermometer.

MRS. EDNA R. SHECKART, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Guidance . . . Future Teachers Club . . . Mrs. Sheckart successfully balances her chief outdoor hobbies of swimming and hunting with a favorite indoor sport, reading.

MR. THEODORE M. SHECKART, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Guidance . . . National Honor Society . . . He responds readily to "the call of the wild" whether it be fishing, hunting, or camping with a tentful of wild young 'uns at Nawakwa.

SERVICES WITH THAT SPECIAL TOUCH

. . . and first and foremost is the health department. The school nurse is always at hand ready to paint a cut finger with mercurochrome or tape a twisted ankle. She is constantly dispensing aspirin and those "delicious" throat lozenges. All students visit the health suite at least once a year for physical exams, and seniors and athletic teams get special treatment—X-rays.

Special services of the administration include the planning and checking of bus schedules for busy students, the care of questionable absences and the ordering of the supplies necessary for keeping eager students busy at the homework and classwork they enjoy so much!

Across the hall from the main office, the guidance counselors can be found trying desperately to iron out all the problems that are placed in their laps. They offer assistance in selecting courses and careers to say nothing of current problems and the testing programs they supervise. There is always someone in the "waiting room" with business for the guidance department.

For the avid reader or the "oops-I-forgot-book-reports-again" variety the high school library offers some 4676 books. Some students use the library to study, some come to read the newspapers or magazines, and some even come to further their social life (usually only to be dismissed rather hurriedly by the librarian). All in all our school offers a wide variety of specials.

Reaching the top shelf of the book racks in the library presents quite a problem for freshman Bradley Smith, but he'll make it! Perhaps a little ladder would help . . . what do you think, Bradley?

MRS. PATSY REXROTH, R.N. . . . School Nurse . . . Future Nurses' Club . . . A not unfamiliar face to join the faculty this year, our nurse's chief interests lie with caring for the other four members of the Rexroth clan.

MRS. JOAN E. RIOS, B.S. . . . Librarian . . . Library Club . . . Reading just naturally keeps Mrs. Rios busy, but for a more unusual hobby she enjoys working in the legitimate theatre.

ENGLISH AND FOREIGN LANGUAGE TEACHERS

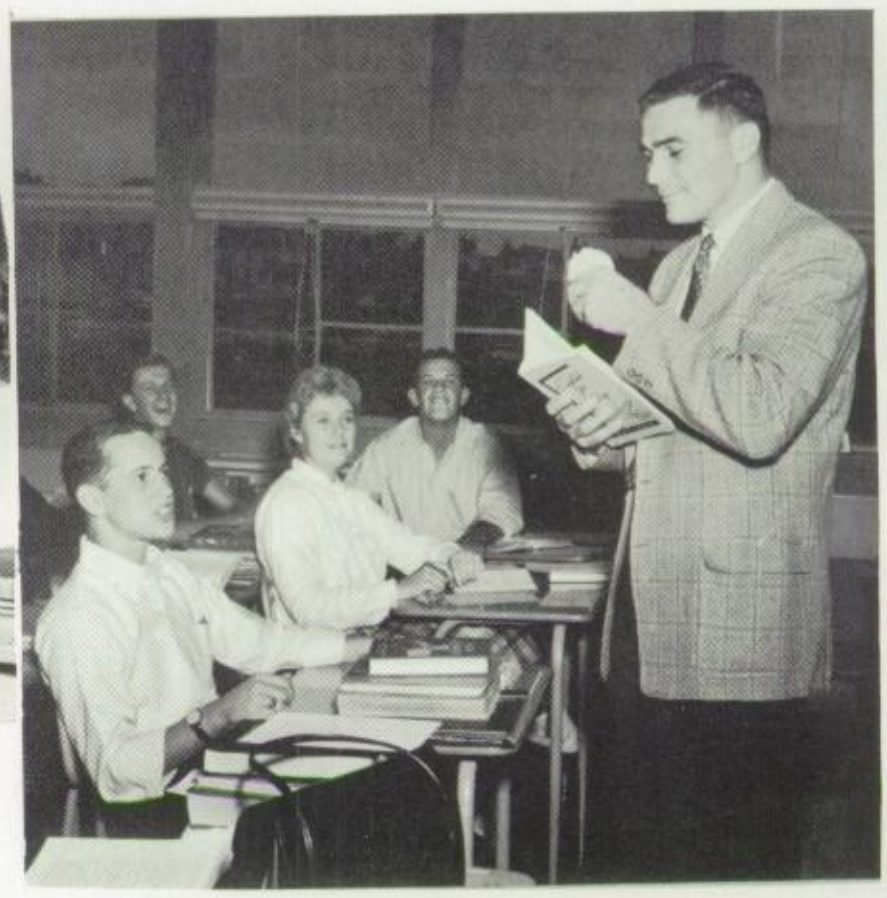
MRS. HILDA C. JACKOWICK, B.A., M.Ed. . . . English, French . . . Class Day, Junior-Senior Play . . . Fond of reading and youngsters, she also enjoys watching her morning glories.

MISS MARIE KEEPORTS, B.A., M.A. . . . English . . . Leonid . . . Miss Keeports went "south of the border" last summer to visit our Latin American neighbors.

MISS NAOMI MYERS, B.S. . . . English . . . Freshman Advisor . . . Boating, swimming and entertaining help to make Miss Myers' summer at the lake sheer delight.

Left: The ninth graders find amusement even in verbs. Sandra Holtzinger, Linda Grim, Brenda Winemiller and Ruth Enfield pantomime the verb "dance." Right: Mr. Savastio isn't teaching the hamster English; he has just received it as a gift from the 11C section.



MR. LEO J. SAVASTIO, B.A. . . . English . . . Archery Club . . . Sixteen days with the Pennsylvania National Guard at Camp Perry, Ohio were the extent of his summer travels.

MRS. ISABEL STARKE, B.A. . . . English . . . Dramatics Club . . . Millersville College was the scene for a portion of her summer as she completed several education courses.

MISS MELANIE SWINGLER, B.A. . . . English, World History . . . Tri-Hi-Y . . . Ice-skating fills Miss Swingler's winter leisure and her foreign doll collection helps fill her home.

KEEP OUR GRAMMAR AND VOCABS INTACT

Miss Helen E. Clevenger, B.A., M.A. . . . Latin . . . LION . . . Miss Clevenger is discovering all the joys of her new home—wide open spaces, and visiting pheasants and flickers.

Mr. Hugh Miller, B.S. . . . Civics, German, Consumer Math . . . This man's intriguing combination of hobbies—philately, photography, sports—are as diverse as his subjects.

Miss Linda S. Nonemaker, B.S. . . . French . . . Junior Red Cross . . . Miss Nonemaker enjoyed actually "living" French this summer at Middlebury French School in Vermont.

Mr. Miller helps his second year German students —Barry Damuth, Larry Orwig, Robert Stabley and Paul Hoffmaster—prepare one of the many attractive bulletin board displays.

"French Day" pays off . . . Lynn Fishel finds out much to his sorrow, as he contributes to the piggy bank his penny fee for every English word spoken. The total sum for the year will be put to worthy use.

Third year Latin students—Susan Watkins, Mary Ann Hangen, and Jane Poff—hold a knitting session dressed in Roman fashion. Second year students enjoy the session too, for the girls' conversation is, of course, in Latin!

HISTORIANS CORRELATE PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE;

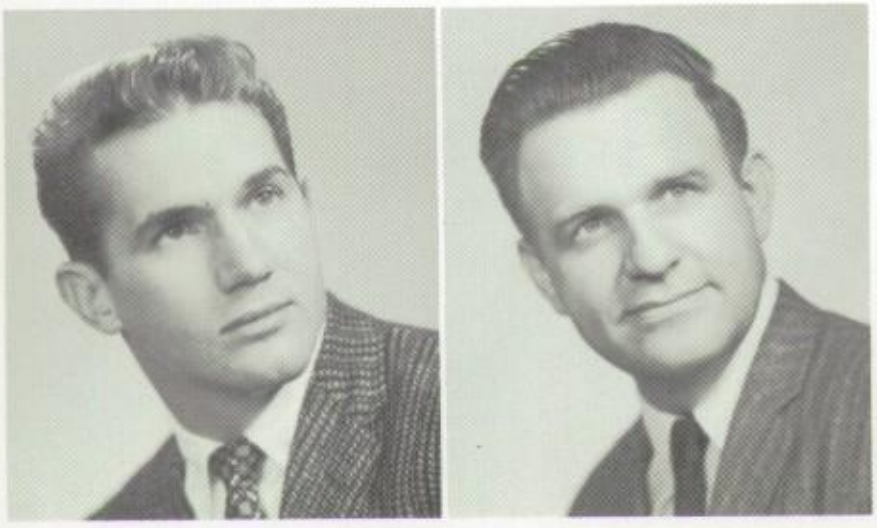
MR. CLAIR A. FRITS, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Sociology, Political Science . . . Student Council . . . A by-product of his hobby gardening, is the bait which he uses for fishing.

MR. PAUL I. HANGEN, B.A. . . . Civics . . . Tennis . . . Mr. Hangen's summer was filled with supervising the baseball for boys program.

MR. HAROLD MYERS, B.S., M.Ed. . . . American History, Economics . . . Junior Advisor . . . The Myers home now sports a new garage and breezeway as a result of his hobby, wood-working.

A special event for this sociology class . . . Mr. Burg Anstine pays them a visit and offers some information on social security.

Barbara Garner, Gerlinda Gemmill, Connie Miller, and Patty Gilbert "pretty up" the bulletin board for history classes in Mr. Shellenberger's room.



MR. DALE L. SHELLENBERGER, B.A. . . . World History, Civics . . . Assistant Football, J.V. Basketball, Sophomore Advisor . . . Mr. Shellenberger's main interest is sports with football, basketball and baseball at the top.

MR. CHARLES W. TOME, B.S., M.Ed. . . . World History, American History, Civics . . . Senior Advisor . . . Mr. Tome serves on the Alumni executive council of Lebanon Valley College.

MATH PROFS CLEAR OUR BRAINS OF COB-WEBS

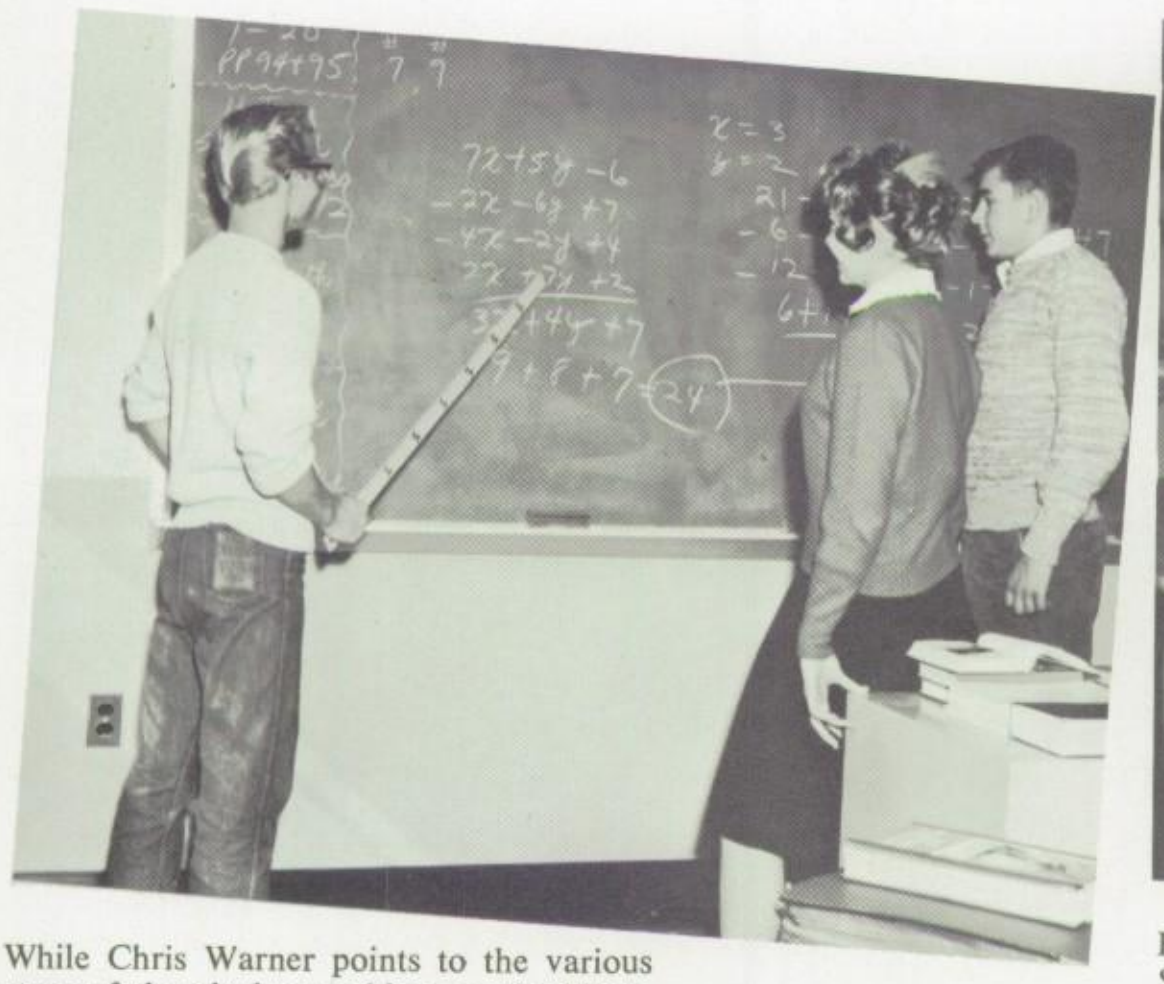
MRS. VERNA T. BLAKESLEE, B.S., M.Ed. . . . English, Basic Math . . . Mrs. Blakeslee had a first-hand look at our federal government in action during her tour of eight states.

MR. ROBERT A. EVELER, B.A. . . . Algebra, Business Arithmetic, Shop Math . . . Tickets, Coin Club . . . Sports and the great outdoors have a strong appeal for Mr. Eveler!

MRS. CATHARINE Y. MILLER, B.A. . . . Algebra, Basic Math . . . Mrs. Miller claims she's just a homebody—who wouldn't be with an adorable baby to care for?



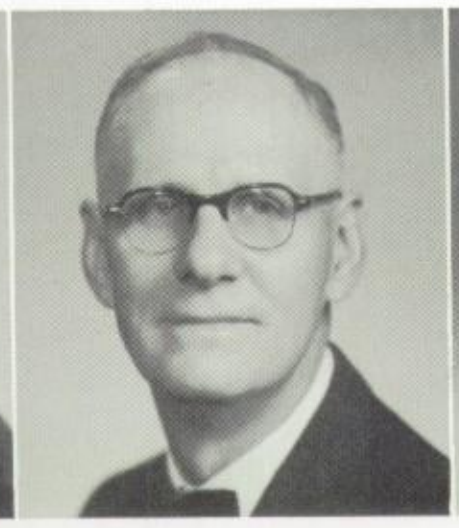
While Chris Warner points to the various steps of the algebra problem on the blackboard, Patti Grove and John Pitzer try to explain its solution.

Her compass and straight edge at hand, Nan Sheffer tackles the constructions for plane geometry with a little geometric reasoning and some high hopes.

MR. J. ROBERT STOVER, B.S. . . . Algebra, Trigonometry, Basic Math . . . He assumed the role of a student again this summer when he spent six weeks at Penn State.

MR. DAVID S. ZIEGLER, B.A. . . . Plane Geometry, Algebra . . . Varsity Basketball, National Athletic Scholarship Society . . . When not coaching aspiring athletes, he spends his free time working the kinks out of his own games.

MORE AND BETTER SCIENTISTS IS THEIR AIM;



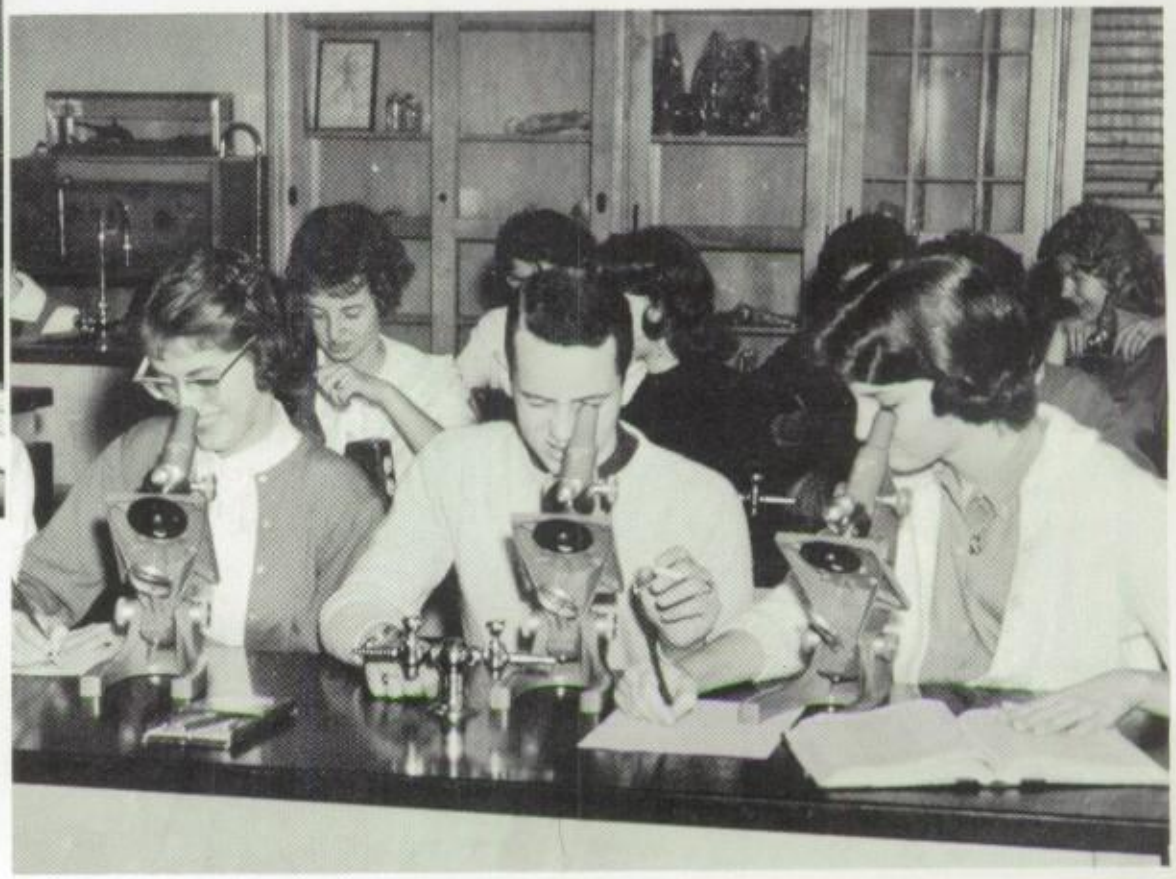
MR. JOHN R. BECKLEY, B.A. . . . General Science, Consumer Science . . . Stage Crew . . . Besides hunting and fishing this science prof has turned farmer.

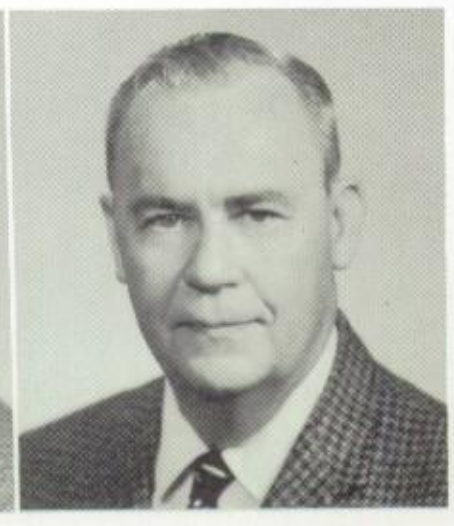
MR. DANIEL E. MYERS, B.A., M.A. . . . General Science . . . Science Club . . . He attended the summer Pa. Science Teachers Workshop and visited medical labs.

MR. EARL D. PAINTER, B.S. . . . Algebra, General Science . . . Mr. Painter is the athletic type; all for baseball, football, basketball and golf—a little spectator and a little participation.

Jerry Pickel appears to have mastered another elective—snake charming. Three of his general science classmates—Linda Deskin, David Leber, Barbara Frey—watch the performance gleefully, but a little warily.

Advanced biology has much to offer the juniors and seniors who elect it. Ellen Posey, Kirby Hickey and Juanita Wink are having fun while they are glued to the microscopes observing the actions of the "little beasties."





MR. CARROLL T. POSEY, B.S. . . . Biology, Life Science . . . Biology Club . . . He's really a baseball and basketball enthusiast who's pretty wicked with a soccer ball, too!

MR. FREELAND E. SHAFFER, B.S. . . . Chemistry, Physics . . . Photography Club, LION . . . Hobby and profession coincide for Mr. Shaffer —he spent the summer working on his M.S.

MR. N. EUGENE SHOEMAKER, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Biology . . . Chess Club . . . This summer Mr. Shoemaker covered 8000 miles, traveling to the NEA convention in L.A.

THIS TEAM TRAINS FOR THE BUSINESS WORLD

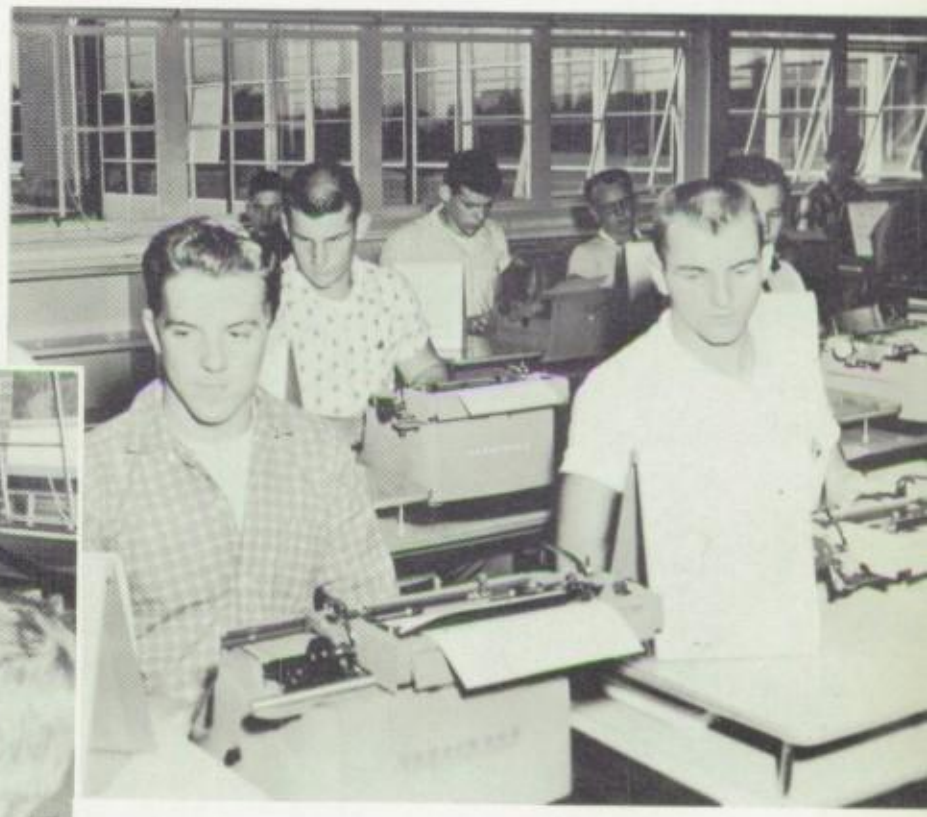
MISS JOLENE Y. BAIR, B.S. . . . Typing, General Business, Business Arithmetic . . . This new teacher wants to do lots of traveling, but meanwhile, reading and bowling suffice.

MRS. ALETA S. EHRHART, B.S. . . . Shorthand, Typing, Office Practice . . . Quite a painter (house, we mean!). Usually her interests run to knitting, crocheting and bowling.

MISS JEANETTE ESPENSHADE, B.S. . . . Bookkeeping, Typing . . . Football Programs . . . Miss Espenshade extends her activities to Red Cross work, fund drives, and cards.

These seniors—Bob Fishel, Bill Mitzel, Kitty Sprenkel and Connie Mellinger—are completely absorbed in Mrs. Ehrhart's explanation of the dictaphone transcriber; what a complicated-looking piece of machinery!



That must be pretty interesting material to capture the attention of Terry Strayer, Kenny Leiphart and Kurvin Kraft so thoroughly—they didn't even blink at the popping flashbulb!

MR. GORDON A. STAMETS, B.S. . . . Business Arithmetic, Shorthand, Typing . . . Travels have taken Mr. Stamets everywhere from Turkey to Belgium to French Morocco.

MR. JAY P. YINGER, B.S. . . . General Business, Retail Selling, Rapid Calculation, Economic Geography . . . He had a vacation in Florida, then turned playground director.

SPECIALISTS SHARE THEIR KNOWLEDGE IN THE

Mrs. Dorothy S. Adams, B.S. . . . English, Music . . . Mixed Chorus, Girls Chorus . . . Mrs. Adams enjoys reading and records; her spare time finds her directing a choir.

Mr. Samuel C. Richards, B.S. . . . Art . . . Art Club, Set Decoration, Prom Decoration . . . This hunter and fisherman also enjoys working in water color or pen and ink media.

Mr. George A. Ward, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Music . . . Band, Orchestra, Dance Band, Boys Chorus . . . Since the new son arrived, hobbies usually give way to family projects.

Carol Warner, the busy little painter, doesn't seem to mind all her critics at all . . . Mr. Richards, Ned Godfrey and Charlie Ebersole are examining that barn with whole-hearted approval.

Debbie Craley and Martha Amspacher in the home ec room are busy stencilling their designs on these handsome pillow cases and place mats. What lovely gifts they'd make!

Nancy Kopp, Judy Tarbutton and Mr. Ward find the deserted music room a good place to practice. Actually it's an instrumental class and most instrumental students are given an equal amount of personal attention.

LINE OF THE ARTS BOTH FINE AND PRACTICAL

MRS. MAE K. MANN, B.A. . . . Home Economics . . . Mrs. Mann is interested in sewing and reading. Her summer vanished in painting, gardening and packing for camp.

MR. JOHN G. MYERS, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Vocational Agriculture . . . Future Farmers of America . . . It's sports and fishing for Mr. Myers, who spent last summer studying.

MRS. FLORENCE G. UHLER, B.S. . . . Home Economics . . . Future Homemakers of America . . . Mrs. Uhler's hobbies include all crafts, she spent the summer keeping busy at home.

Right: Kenneth Runkle and Carson Sechrist have a somewhat enviable job . . . they're using that enormous printing press to print our report cards! Left: This John Deere is really getting polished and shined by Ag. boys Ron Kohler, Sam Taylor, Bill Wise and Perry Kauffmann . . . they learn not only to use their farm machinery but how to keep it in condition.

MR. LOWELL R. WITHERS, B.S. . . . Industrial Arts, Wood, Metal, Mechanical Drawing . . . Stage Crew . . . Archery, woodcarving and guns hold a strange fascination for Mr. Withers.

MR. WARD S. YORKS, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Graphic Arts, Mechanical Drawing . . . School Printing . . . A gala camping trip filled Mr. Yorks' summer; he saw some 12,500 miles worth of the great U. S. A.

TO THIS CREW WE CREDIT OUR SORE MUSCLES

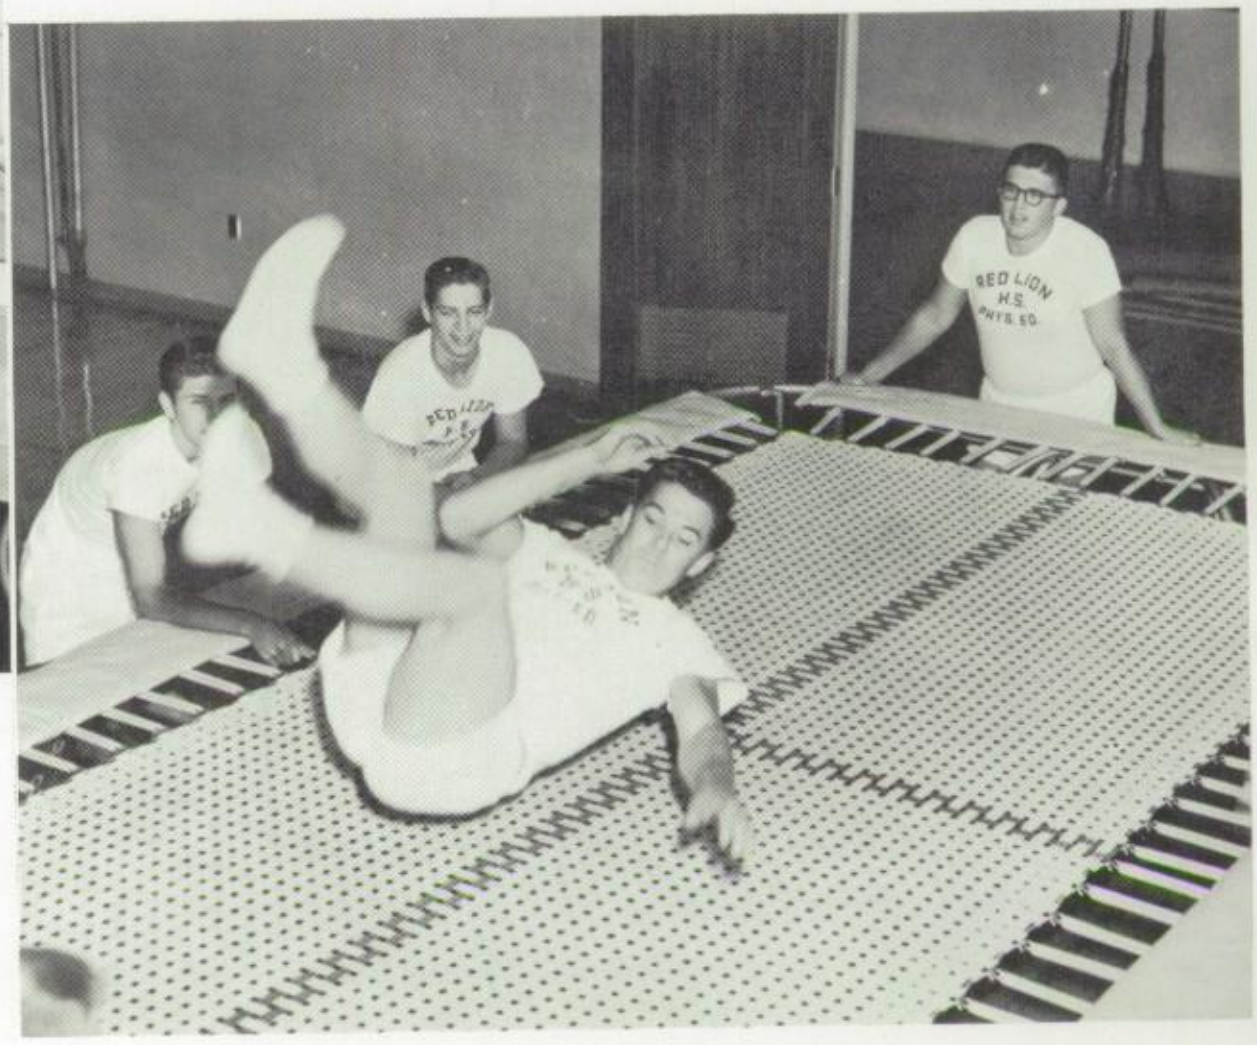
MR. RONALD E. FITZKEE, A.B., M.Ed. . . . Health, Physical Education . . . Football, Baseball . . . His interests and travels are inclined towards sports of all kinds.

MR. WILLIAM D. MADDOX, B.S. . . . Driver Education . . . Football, Track . . . For Mr. Maddox naturally, sports and bowling, but he also enjoys reading; he's a pretty sharp dancer.

MR. CHARLES R. NITCHKEY, B.S., M.A. . . . Health, Physical Education . . . Director of Athletics, Golf, Summer Recreation Program . . . He turned contractor for a new home!

A man of steel nerves, Mr. Maddox doesn't seem the least perturbed as he prepares for another ride with two driver ed students—Jane Poff at the wheel and Mary Ann Hangen in the observation post.

Terry Strayer displays perfect form as he executes a reverse somersault with a one and seven-eighth twist; spotting for Terry are his companions in merriment, Rodney Miller and Bill Shaull.



MRS. ERNESTINE M. SMITH, B.A. . . . Health, Physical Education . . . Dancing Club, Majorettes, Cheerleaders, Basketball for Girls, Pepsters . . . Family first for Mrs. Smith, golf second!

MISS CAROL A. SWEENEY, B.S. . . . Health, Physical Education . . . Tumbling Club, Girls Athletic Association . . . Something special for Miss Sweeney; her interests are students!

BUSY STUDENTS CONSTANTLY ON THE GO

. . . from the time they enter the busy halls of school in the fall, until the time they leave in the spring, they are engulfed in many student activities. There is a never-ending cycle of classes, school dances, clubs and games. Who could ever forget the rushing from class to class and the finishing of those class assignments which seem to pile higher and higher night after night or the nights you and a few of your friends gathered to cram for the big exam that faced you the following day. How about those crazy, wonderful dances you and your special someone attended together. Another highlight comes with the Friday morning assemblies with a variety of programs. And if anything adds to a student's busy moments most certainly it is the football, basketball and baseball games and the track meets. But with it all, students at Red Lion—at least most of them—do a creditable job and the honor rolls are not skimpy. All in all it's a busy bunch of scholars our school produces.

Some just can't last a whole period . . . Jay Wolf's catch-a-quick-nap during book reports draws a smile from Darlene Waltemyer and Mike Young.

Betty Baldwin and Carole Grim look through some of the pamphlets and folders from the wide selection provided in the guidance office.

Believe it or not, these juniors—Quinetta Reider, Karen Overmiller and Mary Lauer—are doing homework. Is this the prescribed atmosphere for making honor roll, or just their secret formula?

ON THE SCENE AT THE HIGH SCHOOL, THE

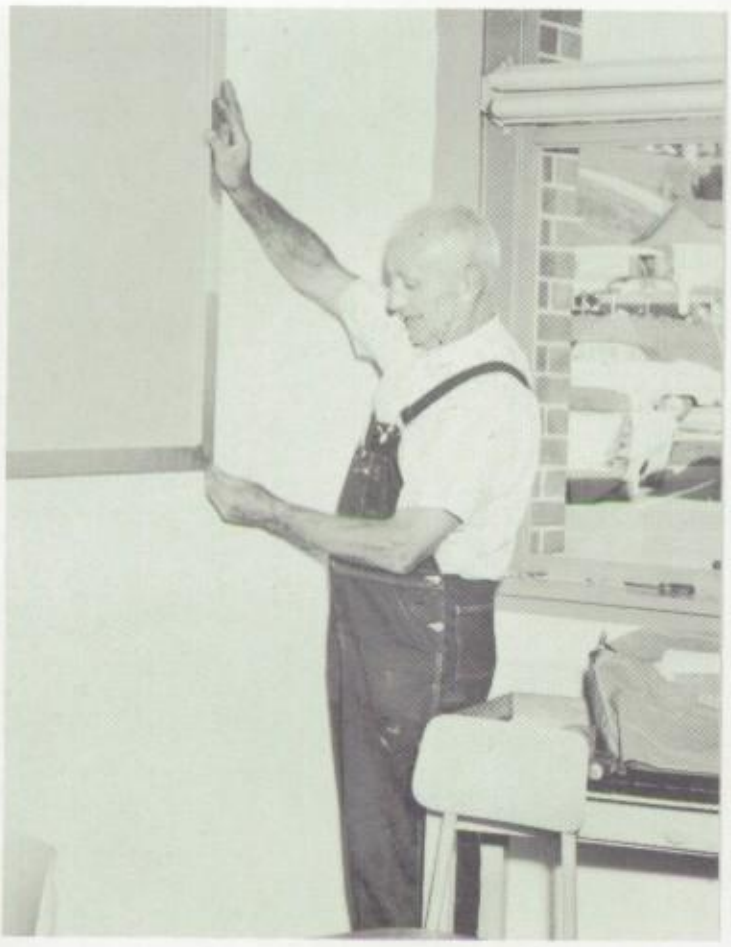
At the end of their long hungry wait Gary Frey, Wilb Brenneman, and Larry Orwig collect their lunches from the cafeteria cooks.

This corner finds students congregating to use the milk machines, wait in line for platters and just socialize.

Welcome faces along about noontime every day—the cooks in our cafeteria . . . Mrs. Elizabeth Smith (staff manager), Mrs. Sara Grove, Mrs. Alma Smith, Mrs. Erma McGuigan, Mrs. Viola Schmuck, Mrs. Grace Smith, Mrs. Betty Barshinger, and Mrs. Ida Stabley.

WELL-APPRECIATED JANITORS AND CAFE PERSONNEL



Mr. Cletus Mitzel, head janitor, puts up the long-awaited bulletin board for the LION staff in the activity office.

. . . they keep well under control the side details of running a school full of busy people. Probably the most welcome sight to many a weary student along about noon time is the cafeteria with its well-planned meals. In spite of all the jokes and complaining usually attached to a cafeteria, the work of the cooks is always properly acknowledged when those hunger pains begin to set in. Our meals are planned by the cafeteria manager with nutrition and appetites in mind. Often more work goes into preparations for the three shifts of hungry students than we realize.

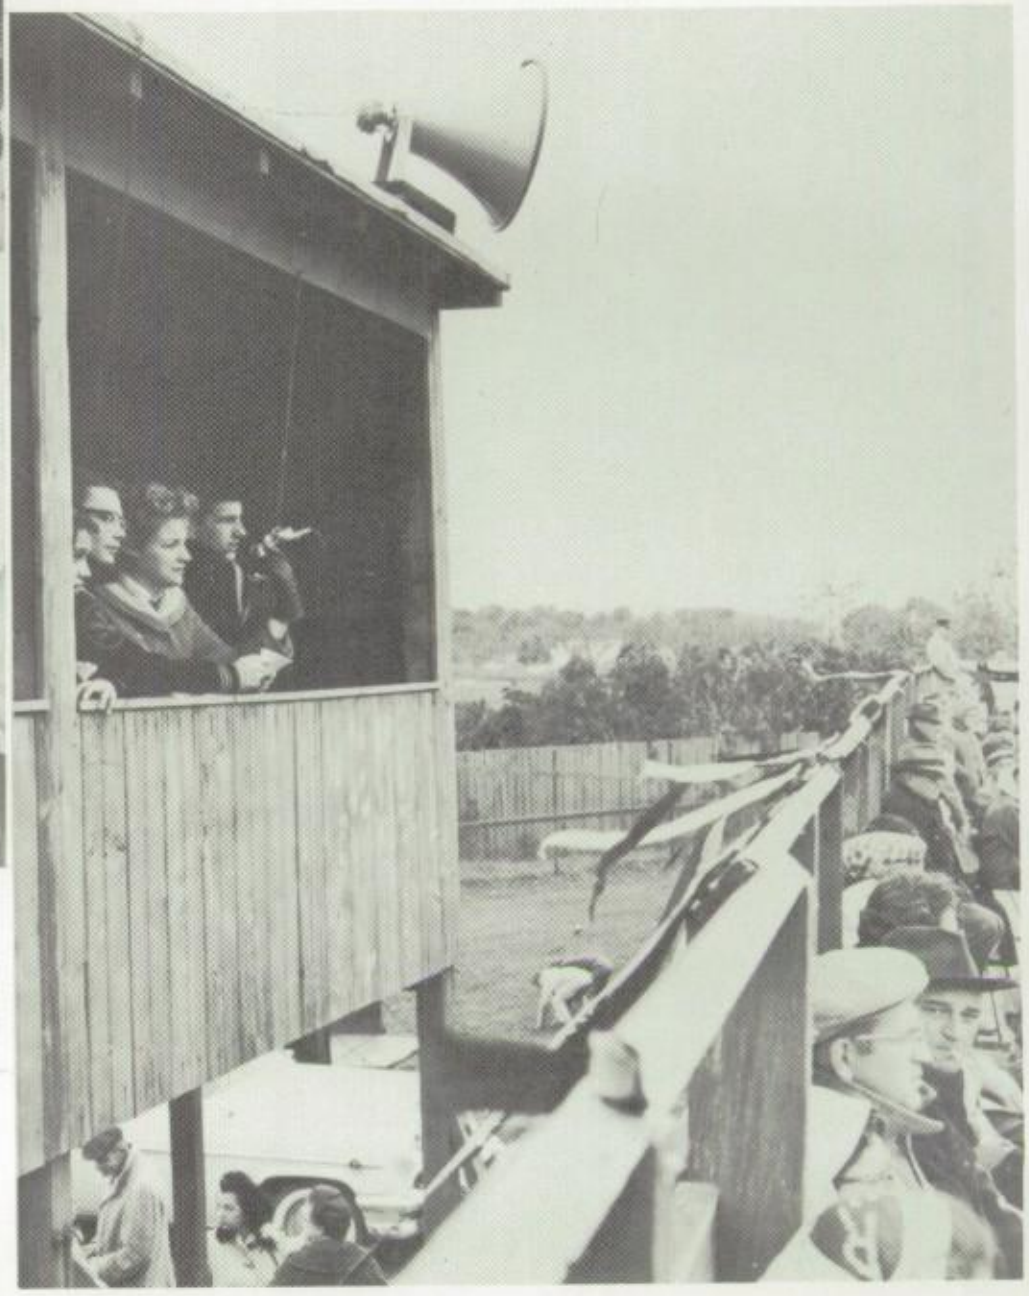
Another obviously essential department in our school is the maintenance. Without the janitors our new school would soon display the symptoms of many long days of rough use by students. Their job is never finished . . . as soon as they complete one task, another demands attention. They work during school, after school and between school terms to keep floors, furniture, windows and blackboards shining and school equipment in working order. When it comes to passing compliments for having an efficient school, Mr. Mitzel and his maintenance crew and Mrs. Smith and her cooks are in line for a large share of the credit.

Left: Mr. Truman Ehrhart and Mr. Walter Fry are just starting their work as most of us finally finish . . . these two night owls are the janitors on the after-four shift. Right: These are the people who work daytime to keep our high school in spic and span . . . Mr. Marvin Overmiller, Mr. Wiley Flinchbaugh, Mrs. Theresa Waltemyer and Mr. Charles Blouse.

FOOTBALL SEASON . . . BRINGING WITH IT THE

Away from all the excitement and anxiety on the field, the noisy crowd waits impatiently for the hot dogs and sodas that Nancy Albany is trying frantically to distribute. No one wants to miss another second of the rousing game with Cocalico.

High above the crowd, Susie Watkins with the help of collaborators Larry Orwig and Chuck Horn, announces the band's performance. She is responsible also for introducing players and welcoming the opposing teams and fans.



The entire band, assembled in full regalia is in position to present its performance—as usual, an interesting marching routine and some snappy music to entertain the football fans.

SPIRIT AND ENTHUSIASM OF THE ENTIRE SCHOOL

These freshmen boys—Alan Freeman, Greg Keeports, Greg Keller—are putting forth an all-out effort to try to gain the honor of first place in field decoration competition.

Hedrick, C. Garner.

ACTIVE PARTICIPANTS IN THE DRAMA OF FOOTBALL

Football camp . . . fortunately for the team, time is spared to take care of the members' hearty appetites. Although practice makes perfect, it also makes one hungry.

An important complement to the marching band and majorettes is the COLOR GUARD which brings formality to the performance . . . Pam Warner, Judy Olp, Jo Ann Lutz, Darlene Sechrist.

Mr. Myers is the official greeter at the gate . . . tickets, please. His eager beaver neighbor is program seller Bob Fishel.

HEROES OF THE FALL — THE RARING-TO-GO

Bob Smith sweeps right against Cocalico for a few extra yards. Aiding Bob's attack are Bill Grim and Sam Hibbert who manage to rub out a couple of would-be tacklers.

VARSITY PLAYERS WHO FOUGHT SO HARD FOR RLHS

Gene Fake is a target for our cameraman as he trots through the Donegal end zone after receiving a pass from quarterback Floyd Warner.

. . . for them work began on August 16th at Camp Echo Trail where they lived through one solid week of football and more football. The daily routine was rigorous since it consisted of two or three practice sessions, long cross country hikes, reviewing plays and learning new formations. Morale was boosted by swimming once in a while and a good hearty shaving cream battle.

Upon their return from camp, the Lions held two scrimmages——the first with Susquehannock and the second with Boiling Springs. During the first play of the first scrimmage Don Rau received a knee injury which put him out of action for the rest of the season.

The official season opened with a bang on the Dallastown field with Red Lion the victor by a forty-six point margin. For the balance of the season the entire starting squad was never mustered at one time due to injuries which plagued Red Lion by striking at vital positions and valuable players. The season itself was a success—one of the best! Combining this season's wins with those of last year we arrive at a total of fifteen, a new record. In the minds of many we lost but one game, the clash with Columbia. The two other losses, Manheim and Hempfield, were conceded by a mere point in each case. Our team worked hard, played hard and never lost hope.

The freshman team recorded another sporting first this year after joining the York County Junior High Football League. Our "young Lions" sported a five win—no loss—one tie record worthy of the championship in this league.

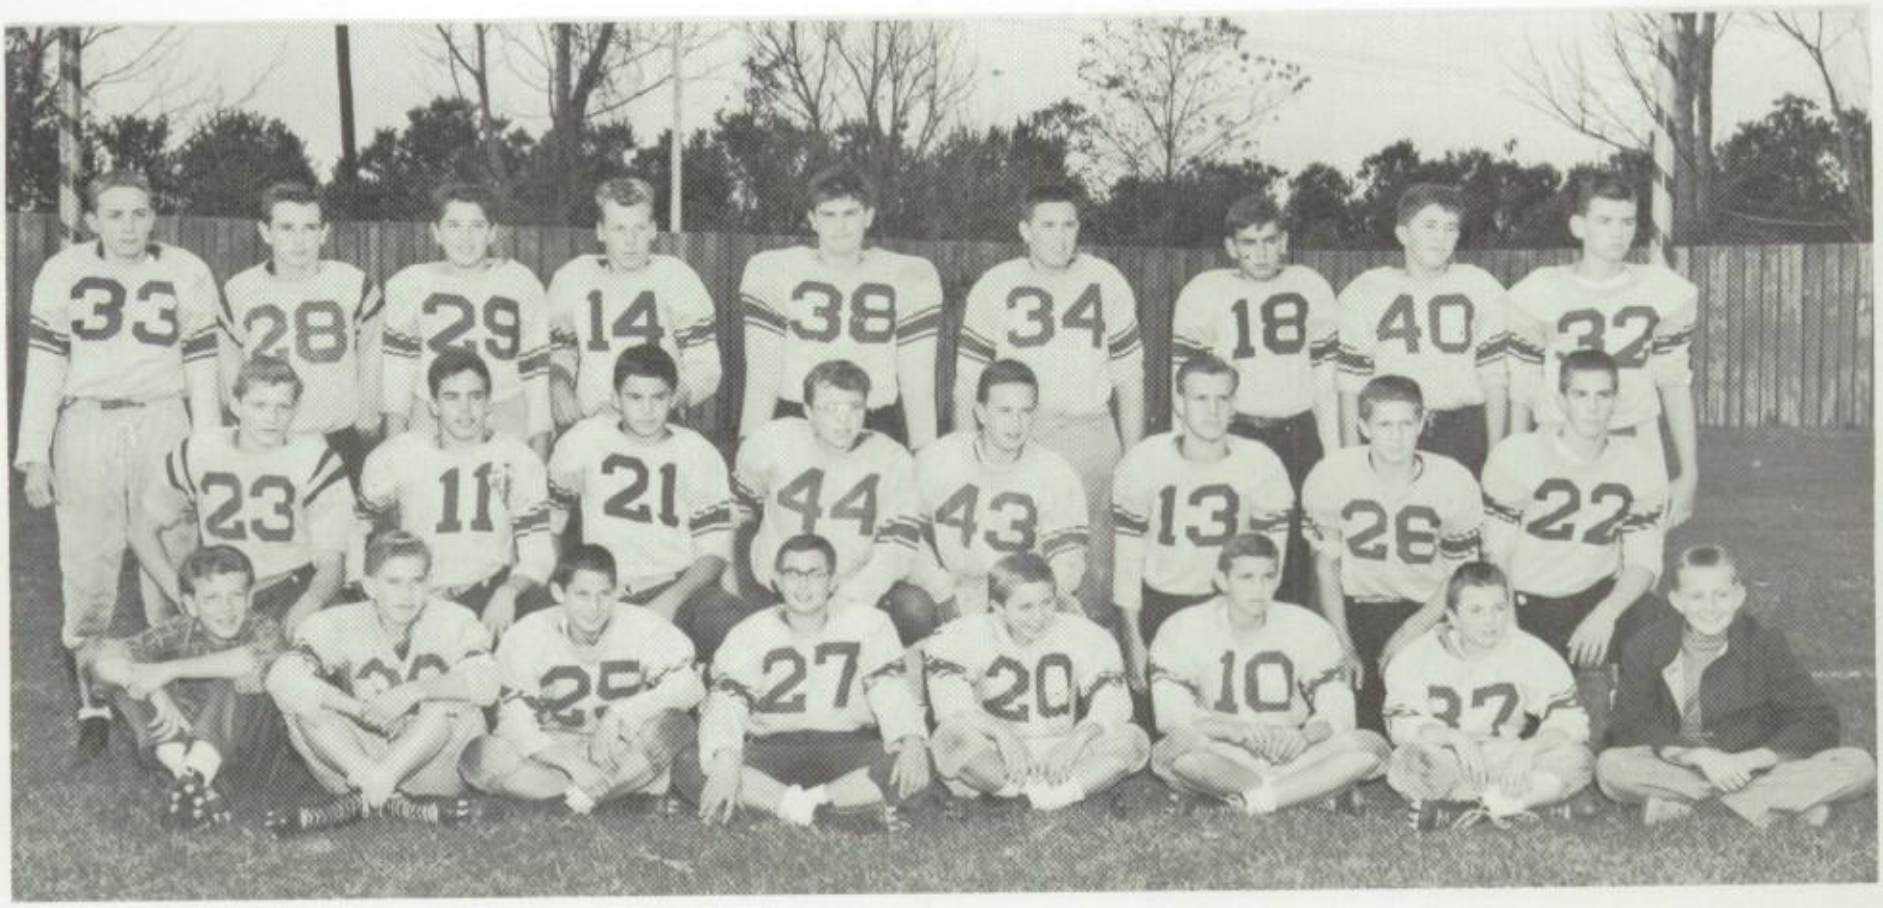
THEIR THRILLS, DISAPPOINTMENTS AND VICTORIES



York county co-champs, their first year in the league, the FRESHMAN SQUAD—Front: J. Hyson, D. McWilliams, S. Markel, R. Hanna, C. Knokey, J. Ropp, B. Smith, J. Arnold. Second: G. Gohn, J. After finding his receivers covered, quarterback, Floyd Warner, took the only other alternative and ran. He did so faking wildly but effectively as he dashed untouched the final 12 yards to the Dallastown goal line in the Lions' opening contest.

MAKE PIGSKIN HISTORY FOR THEIR ALMA MATER

Left: Jim Trout, freshman quarterback, is stopped by the camera in the act of throwing to a Red Lion end in the game with Kennard-Dale. Jim was successful; so was Red Lion, by a 20 to 6 score. Right: Red Lion's co-captains combine for extra yardage as Denny Keesey makes contact with a Floyd Warner aerial against Columbia.

The Lions "hold that line" as Manheim Central tries in the rain for a first down. By the looks of things our boys are practically daring that runner to get up.

APPRECIATIVE GESTURES WRAP UP THE SEASON

No, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzkee aren't lost, stolen or misplaced; they have detoured from the golf course to taxi senior football players and their dates from their tables to the place of honor at the football dance. Look out for all the traffic, Mr. Fitzkee, dancing traffic, that is.

Always a popular spot at any affair is the refreshment booth, and these fellows are proving that the "Varsity Heap" is no exception in this respect. This dance is the G.A.A.'s way of honoring the football players; it is held each year just after the West York game and each year the girls go to great lengths to do something clever.

A hearty climax to a season of hard work is the annual football banquet where the football players get recognition for all their efforts and enjoy a good meal at the same time. From the expressions, the players must be relishing their freedom from muddy practices and cold benchwarming.

GUESTS AND SPECIAL ASSEMBLIES WELCOMED

. . . they bring a variety of interesting programs to our Friday morning activity period. At the beginning of the year pep rallies abounded; our first regular assembly featured the Girl Scouts from Troop 253 who presented some slides from their trip to Mexico last summer and sang some of the songs they learned on the way. Then as a special, German exchange student Dorothea Kleinschmidt told us a little bit about the history of her people and explained present conditions in Western Germany. Dorothea visited in Red Lion for about nine weeks and during that time she spoke to many of the town's organizations, also to the German classes here at the high school. One Friday morning the Social Studies Department presented a student debate on the election and there was an amateur talent show on another morning. The junior-senior play preview made another interesting program.

Two professional assemblies were planned, but we didn't have the opportunity to see the McAleer Marionettes because of bad weather. The Falconry assembly, however, proved very informative and equally amusing; the birds were as comical as their trainer. All in all, the fall's assembly programs provided a much-appreciated lift to the week's routine.

STUDENT COUNCIL GOING INTO ACTION AGAIN

. . . they face a heavier-than-usual agenda. Since last spring when new officers were elected, the council has done many things and has many more planned: a badly needed Lion suit has been acquired, the highly successful "Kick-off" and the presidential election were sponsored, and the long awaited handbook is nearing completion.

Also in operation is the get-well-card committee which sends cards to students with serious illness or long absence for other reasons. The "Ten Commandments of Bus Conduct" were posted in each homeroom and scholastic awards are planned for the end of each marking period. School pennants also have been made available to students through the homeroom representative. The calendar for the winter months includes supervision of school Christmas decorations, participation in the January evaluation, arranging for an exchange assembly with Dallastown, half-time entertainment and a dance or two after the home basketball games. Under discussion is a possible social activity in the form of a school picnic and possibly an ice skating party. To top its achievements, actual and planned, the council recently became a member of the Pennsylvania Association of Student Councils.

Giving the Christmas spirit a little push, Kirby Hickey, who was in charge of getting the Christmas tree for the Student Council has a full size load on his hands. From here on it's up to the decorators.

When the Student Council decides to go social, it does in a big way, as evidenced from success of their dance, the "Kick-off" . . . a good time provided for everybody!

SENIORS AND JUNIORS FACING THE FOOTLIGHTS

Mary Jo Schoomaker, girl photographer, clambers onto a chair in order to snap a picture of Dr. Hudson. The occasion—the ground-breaking ceremony for his hospital's new wing—has brought many influential visitors to the scene. Carefully examining the blueprint for the new wing are Alice Thompson, Juanita Wink and Susie Grim, while clustered around Dr. Hudson are reporter Morris Stein, Nancy Kopp, Joan Kauffman, and Janet Arnold.

No, they did not shrink three juniors or seniors, the youngsters clutching Mary Ann Hangen's hand are faculty loans, Jeff Sample and Lisa Ziegler, and Sharon Frey. They are quite impressed by the presence of Nancy Ashford, Dorcas Haines.

TO PRESENT "DR. HUDSON'S SECRET JOURNAL"

. . . a drama, for a change this year. The plot revolved around Dr. Hudson and his theory that investing in people paid off in a secret power for good. The audience found a capable group of amateur thespians, with Michael Young heading the list in the role of Dr. Hudson and Dorcas Haines handling the part of his secretary. Joel Michael played Mr. Warner with Mary Ann Hangen as his daughter, and for the ever-present Cupid's touch, a love affair developed between her and Dr. Kelsey, Don Baldwin. A highlight of the performance was the heavy Italian accent produced by Roger Holtzinger who claims, "I'ma no 'Italien'; I'ma German!"

The play nights were hectic and backstage preparations were long and complicated. Special attention had to be given to the unusual characters, and mustaches and glue were an ordeal for some. Four long hard weeks of rehearsals paid off with a successful performance for an audience of roughly eight hundred and an invitation to present portions of the play later at the Elks.

A "thank you" for Mrs. Jackowick as the stage manager, Jetty Craley, presents her with the gift from the cast—a dozen long-stemmed American Beauty roses.

As a young intern, Don Baldwin falls in love with an attractive nurse's aide, Barbara Warner, Mary Ann Hangen.

The final dramatic moments of the play find Dr. Hudson speaking with his daughter, Joyce, Sue Sheckart, and Tim Watson, Bill Leach, while the chimes of Trinity Church play the beautiful hymn, "Oh God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Frozen toes, cold red noses and a snowball battle usher in this cold winter morning on the first day of school after a forced but pleasant three day snow vacation.

ANTICIPATING THE HOLIDAY FUN, RED LION

The heart-warming story of "Christmas on Erie Street" is brought to life through the versatile talents of Ray Arnold, Alma Ferree and Janet Arnold.

Spur-of-the-moment teacher Mary Ann Hangen is finding her students quite receptive to French carols as they discover and enjoy the warm, universal spirit of Christmas.

A new innovation at the Christmas Dance was a course in pyramid building. Instructors Don Rau and Floyd Warner have captured the attention of several other dance-goers with their immense towers. Careful now, don't sneeze! sneeze!

STUDENTS BEGIN TO FEEL THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Red Lion's answer to recording songstress, Annette Funicello, is very capably portrayed by Pam Warner who enlivens the Christmas dance with a pantomime of one of Annette's current hits. Pam's startling likeness for her famous "twin" has caused more than one head to turn.

. . . they show their good feeling in many warm and wonderful ways: with smiles and cheerful greetings, ribbons, tinsel and jingle bells. The Christmas spirit spreads easily through Red Lion High for every student seems to give it a helping hand. This year as usual, we had the Christmas tree in the lobby and the Christmas caroling round about town, the Student Council's contributions to a merrier Christmas. The juniors did their bit to make the season memorable by sponsoring a dance on December 17 with enjoyable entertainment plus Carson Sechrist's band for the dancing. Santa Claus arrived, distributed gifts and announced the program. And when the guests, accompanied by Mr. Zerbe at the piano, began to sing Christmas carols a genuine spirit of Christmas was manifested.

In the afternoon of our last day before the holidays, the Dramatics Club, with an assist from the Music Department, gave a thoughtful reminder of the true meaning of Christmas—the presentation of a play, "Christmas on Erie Street," in which two young newsboys discovered what Christmas really is. The chorus members sang some traditional Christmas carols and the band played some spirited music, all of which helped to make it a happier Christmas. After the assembly the students returned to their homerooms for a party which lasted the short time until dismissal . . . and then, off for Christmas vacation!

What would Christmas be without a tree? No one at Red Lion High wanted to find out, so the Student Council took the responsibility. Once up, the tree proved to be a favorite gathering spot for many students.

NOTE FROM THE INSTRUMENTAL MUSICIANS

. . . for Red Lion's music men find a wide variety of organizations in which to perform. In addition to the versatile, snappy CONCERT and MARCHING BANDS, students have an opportunity to play in the ORCHESTRA, DANCE BAND and ASSEMBLY BAND, to say nothing of the many assemblies.

Although the Night of Music is their big opportunity to shine, our music organizations enjoy other opportunities to display their talents. For the ORCHESTRA, another big night is graduation, and without the snappy marches of the ASSEMBLY BAND no assembly program would be the same. Needless to say, the DANCE BAND gets its chances too. Foremost for the MARCHING BAND are the football games. Be it rain or shine, hot or cold, home or away, our standard bearers are sure to be present. But the end of the football season does not mean the end of the band—it sheds its outdoor uniforms (long underwear, earmuffs and mittens included!), gains a few more members, and becomes the CONCERT BAND. Since the problem of keeping in step is eliminated, all efforts are concentrated on more difficult music. Much time and effort go into our music organizations, and both school and community have benefited.

TALENTED VOCALISTS FOR EVERY OCCASION

Accompanists Beverly Blouse and Linda Wagner shine every time the choruses sing!

. . . they comprise several organizations which are a real asset to our school, the vocal groups. Among these organizations, are the SENIOR HIGH MIXED CHORUS with members from ninth through twelfth grades, though it previously was for juniors and seniors exclusively, the GIRLS CHORUS which also includes freshmen through to seniors, the BOYS CHORUS and several ensembles. These vocalists improve upon their talents a little each week with long but enjoyable practice sessions with Mrs. Adams or Mr. Ward, and after many hours of work, they are ready to provide us with some enjoyable entertainment.

The vocal groups often perfom individually for special programs, and all the vocal groups shine in the Night of Music. This year the MIXED CHORUS sang several hymns and other enjoyable selections for the evaluation assembly, and in the Christmas assembly both MIXED and GIRLS CHORUS provided some delightful caroling. On occasions the vocal groups combine with the band to do a special selection. Every year our Music Department continues to grow. This is pleasing to both the school and the chorus members.

CLUBS OFFERING AN INSIGHT TO THE FUTURE

Judy McCleary plays sponsor and reads the commercial during the Future Nurses assembly, a clever poem about the value of nursing.

. . . no crystal ball is needed to tell these lucky people their future . . . they already know! The FUTURE TEACHERS, FUTURE NURSES, and the FUTURE FARMERS and HOMEMAKERS of AMERICA provide a wealth of varied activities for their members, but each is designed to further the person's interest in the field.

The would-be teachers received an honest-to-goodness opportunity to try their hand at teaching; they observed teachers in action and then tried it for themselves at the elementary building on the hill. Both teachers and nurses (future, that is) combined their efforts to present an assembly, a take off on the "I've Got a Secret" show. Individually, the FUTURE NURSES were fortunate enough to receive visits from doctors and nurses who further gave them the scoop on being a woman in white. The F. F. A. members have been busy all year beginning with the York Fair last fall. There, and at the State Farm Show, they received a chance to compare their livestock with others and to pick up some helpful hints. Their assembly will be presented in the spring, as will the FUTURE HOMEMAKERS'. The girls also received guest speakers and added to their collection of useful hints for creating a better home. They're a pretty active lot—these career conscious fellow classmen.

Left: Sam Taylor and Robert Druck from F. F. A. work with a spray gun on the big tractor. Right: Joyce Breneman and Debbie Craley take a lesson from the nurse, Mrs. Rexroth, on the special care of lettermen with Don Rau serving as the injured hero.

ANYONE INTERESTED MAY SAMPLE CAREERS IN

Time out for some informal chatting during one of the rehearsals for the lively "I've Got a Secret" assembly, presented by the Future Nurses and the Future Teachers. The program was a grand success!

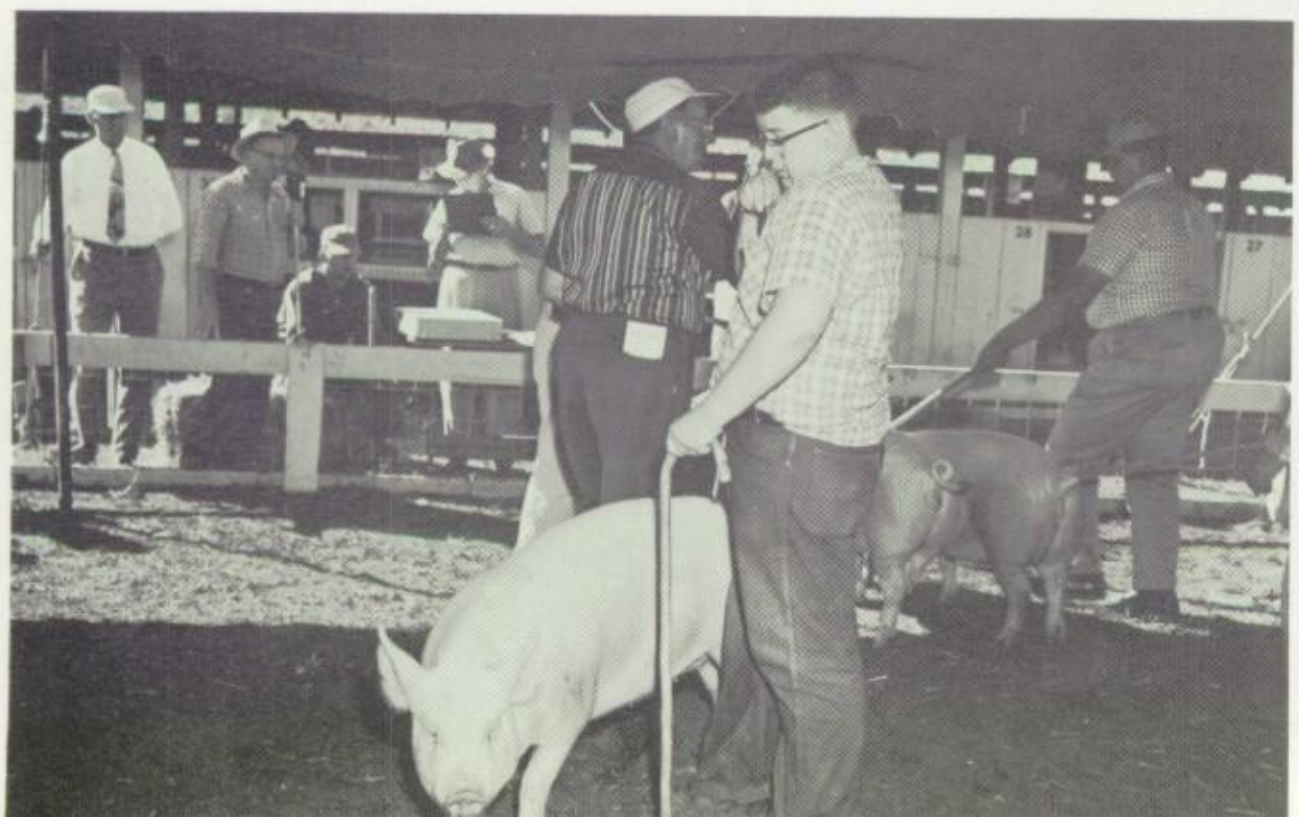
No, our school hasn't gone hillbilly . . . just Julia Kline and Pat Keener doing a pantomime for fellow F. H. A. members.

Mrs. Uhler shows slides of these F. H. A. members who seem quite comfortable and interested. They have taken to the colder halls to view the slides.

TEACHING, NURSING, FARMING AND HOMEMAKING

Carol Buecker, Judy Tarbutton, Joyce Grove, Cheryl Henninger, Glenda Gohn, Joyce Saylor, Hollyanne Ropp and Barbara Markel are first rate when doing commercials. They are the sponsors from the F. T. A. version of "I've Got a Secret."

Mrs. Rexroth, Sally Maurer and Ellen Posey find it quite a treat talking with Dr. Terry Frey at the close of the Future Nurses meeting. Dr. Frey, a pharmacist, is a Red Lion alumnus.



Robert Robinson takes pride in showing his ribbon-winning swine. He, along with many other F. F. A. members, took his livestock to exhibit at the Farm Show in Harrisburg.

SERVICE IS THE KEY WORD IN JR. RED CROSS,

Ruby Hoffmaster and Carol Miller hold the pole while Gail Seaks and other members of the Library Club perform the limbo dance to some wild native music in the school's amateur talent assembly.

Miss Swingler and Miss Bair enjoy the fellowship and fun of Tri-Hi-Y meetings. The Tri-Hi-Y Club is active in service projects in and out of school and they have fun socially too.

This gang of girls in the cafe represents a part of the Junior Red Cross, busy at work preparing Valentine favors for homes for the aged.

LIBRARY CLUB AND TRI-HI-Y, AND IT'S FUN

These are the girls who keep the program for the Tri-Hi-Y rolling. They meet in the cafe during activity periods to plan meetings; amid laughter and joking they come up with some pretty clever ideas.

. . . because club members enjoy helping others. The LIBRARY CLUB is an example of a service to our school. So many of us take the efficiency in the library for granted, but it's a big job to keep all those books moving smoothly in and out of the library and keep track of all the magazines and reference materials too. Then naturally there comes the problem of overdues, forgiven for the sick but otherwise for the careless. The TRI-HI-Y in connection with the Y. M. C. A. does much service type work in a fun type way. The girls enjoy combined social functions with the boys HI-Y clubs from other schools and they are often invited to the Y. M. for swims and get-togethers. Their serious work includes clothing drives for the unfortunate and making favors at holiday seasons in the same way the JUNIOR RED CROSS does. Both organizations send the favors to homes for the aged or hospitals. However JUNIOR RED CROSS members do their projects in connection with the Amercian Red Cross and often send things overseas. They also make collections for foreign children and sponsor the fund drive in school for the Red Cross. So service can be fun as well as helpful and these students are out to prove that point.

Miss Nonemaker assists Sharon Norris, Bonnie Norris and Nancy Huson in making favors during a Junior Red Cross meeting. The projects are not only fun but helpful . . . the favors are taken to the Red Cross chapter house for distribution.

ART, PHOTOGRAPHY AND COIN CLUB MEMBERS

Club photographers Bob Fishel and Terry Jamison, plugging away in the darkroom, are developing some more of those clear, bright pictures.

Barry Lutz and Barry Reichard present a special program to the members of the Photography Club on the techniques of trick photography.

An enthusiastic group of collectors, the COIN CLUB—Tom Galbreath, Terry Saylor, Terry Haugh, David Anderson, Mark Frey, Dale Emenheiser, Louis Kauffman, Maurice Keesey, Greg Keeports and Robert Crum—convene to share their interest in coins.

ENJOY SHARING AND EXPLORING THEIR HOBBIES

. . . For those students whose interests tend toward the unusual and the creative, Red Lion offers several special interest clubs all of which build enthusiasm for hobbies. The ART CLUB uses any and all media, as interests range from wooden bowls and baskets to oil and water color; there are so many different things with which young artists may experiment. Members are no Michaelangelos to be sure, but they take pride in the display of their talents nevertheless. Their big opportunities to paint the town come with the prom decorations and stage sets. The PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB shines every time a flashbulb blinds another unsuspecting subject. The members's responsibility doesn't end with just taking the picture, however. It continues into the darkroom where everyone receives a chance to learn the skill and satisfaction of developing his own prints. And still another special interest is pursued by the sixteen enthusiasts of the COIN CLUB. They enjoy sharing their experiences and collections; some of the more valuable items found on display are gold pieces and proof sets. Their present project is collecting buffalo head nickels. So whether your interest lies in gold pieces, wooden bowls or snapping pictures, it's bound to be discovered and encouraged in one of Red Lion High's special interest clubs.

ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES ATTRACT MANY OUTDOOR

Mr. Fitzkee referees the wrestling match between Premo O'Carna (Sam Hibbert) and Mr. Muscles (Evans Snyder) in an assembly presented by the tumbling clubs . . . the history of wrestling was told and illustrated before this comical free-for-all took place.

Ruth Ann Keller bouncing high on the tramp and Sandra Mobley doing a knee drop are the tumbling club's clowns in the program.

Jan Hall and Ralph DeShong soliciting for March of Dimes funds collect a donation from Mr. Spence, the barber . . . the Varsity Club helped extensively in the drive.

ENTHUSIASTS: G. A. A. FOR THE GIRLS

Patsy Smeltzer refs a jump between Pam Mitzel and Linda Ludwig in a G.A.A. game.

. . . and they hold their own with VARSITY CLUB, ARCHERY CLUB and TUMBLING CLUB. The girls in the GAA have a full year's schedule; wiffleball in the fall, basketball in the winter, then volleyball and track. They also collect tickets and handle the refreshments for all the home games, and they do pretty well socially, too; their football dance, the "Varsity Heap," was a smashing success. The VARSITY CLUB, too, is far from a name-only organization. This year its members, who are varsity lettermen, had their fingers in a variety of projects. They planned the programs for basketball games, presented a very successful assembly and handled the ushering and announcing at home games.

The other two sports clubs are not quite so prominent but perhaps a little more specialized. The TUMBLING CLUBS swung into action at the end of football season. These acrobats have tried everything short of tying themselves in knots—flips, cartwheels, rolls, headstands and all kinds of contortions; the gym equipment has gotten some good hard use from these tumblers. The ARCHERY CLUB was just as active; its members were busy learning the techniques of hunting with bows and arrows. Since the club is fairly new it has limited facilities and actual practice was minimized, so films and speakers substituted while members worked on building an arsenal.

G.A.A. volleyball games can be fast and furious, so this team of girls is going to stay on the alert . . . the sports contests sponsored by the G.A.A. provide good clean fun and some healthy exercise for the girls at the same time.

ARCHERY AND TUMBLING CLUB WITH FUN FOR ALL

Girls Tumbling Club provides the opportunity to use all kinds of gym equipment . . . Joy Hutcheson hops across the horse while Connie Jo Hinkle spots.

Don Rau and Tim Cope, Varsity Club members, announce plays in the basketball games as they happen, also the names of players coming out or going in; it's an appreciated Varsity Club service.

G. A. A. president Bonnie Finn, together with the other officers—Patsy Smeltzer, Ann Johnson, Karen Poff, Mary Ann Hangen, Janeen Taylor, Yvette Maneval and Jetty Craley—plan the programs for the girls; they seem to have an unending number of chores in keeping the club functioning.

SCIENTISTS INVESTIGATE THE CURIOUS

. . . and there are many curious minds to satisfy. The NINTH GRADE SCIENCE CLUB is an excellent beginning for any aspiring young scientist. This group experiments to learn anything from how a trumpet works to why dirt settles in muddy water, and the biggest thing they learn is to develop that all important scientific attitude and an inquisitive, open mind. For the benefit of more advanced students an ELECTRONICS AND NUCLEAR PHYSICS CLUB was formed this year. Requirements for the club stipulate that the student must be either a junior or senior and have had physics. Under the direction of Mr. Shaffer the students experiment with all kinds of scientific questions, but particularly physics. It's a great bunch of individuals these clubs help to build.

DANCERS AND DRAMATISTS SPARK ENTHUSIASM

. . . for the theatrical arts, high school style. Throughout the school year the DRAMATICS CLUB affords many opportunities for students to try their wings by staging short skits before the student body in assemblies and before members of their own club at the regular meetings. In addition, they have the responsibility of producing the plays for the Christmas and Easter assemblies. Much activity goes on behind the scenes to add to the success of each production; so let's not forget the STAGE CREW whose handy work is seen in every school play and every assembly, student or guest. Perhaps you have even seen one of the crew dash across the stage carrying some piece of equipment needed at the last minute. Be not misled for this isn't all they have to do; it is their responsibility to handle all scenery, lighting and sound effects too. And if by chance you were to walk into the gym Monday in activity period and be somewhat startled by swirling skirts and fast stepping feet—our words to you are "fear not"—for it's just Mrs. Smith's ninety-eight dancing girls. In this DANCING CLUB the girls teach one another everything from the Charleston to the latest modern dances, and when drafted for programs they are ready.

Left: Steady there, Kenley Strickler; you can't let fellow stage crew member Tim Cope down. The boys are shaping up the stage for the junior-senior play. Below: This jolly group of elves is the STAGE CREW—R. Seiple, R. Hanna, K. Strickler, B. Smith, T. Grove, J. Peters, J. Patterson, J. # BACKBOARDS, CHEERED ON BY OUR CHEERLEADERS

Ralph DeShong jump shooting from the circle in the Kennard-Dale game is stopped by the magic eye of the camera. Peppy, as Ralph was nicknamed by the team, was co-captain with Floyd Warner this year.

. . . they provide fun and competition in the line of sports. The rangy '61 basketball squad began practice on November 14 and continued through February 24. The first game was played on our floor December 9 against Central, followed by York, Lancaster, Hanover, Spring Grove and alumni which rounded out a rather strenuous exhibition schedule. The teams split, winning three and losing three of these games. After the defeat of the alumni during the Christmas vacation, the league games began with Kennard-Dale and ran a week short of two months, ending on February 24 with Susquehannock. During this time our boys played sixteen games and sported a twelve win and four loss record which put them in second place in the Southern Division of the York County Basketball League.

There was a lot of hard work and a lot of time put into this year's basketball squad but there was also lots of good clean fun. Among the teams' unforgettable moments are the cold winter's evening the bus got stuck in the snow on the way home from Dallastown and the geometric reasoning constantly employed by Coach Dave Ziegler. And what player or spectator will ever forget the suspense and excitement of the Eastern game! The boys were a little disappointed at coming so close to the championship but they took it in stride; just the breaks of the game.

Gary Frey pumps from the head of the key as the remaining Chinese bandits, led by Jeff Douglas, position themselves for the possible rebound in the game with Northeastern.

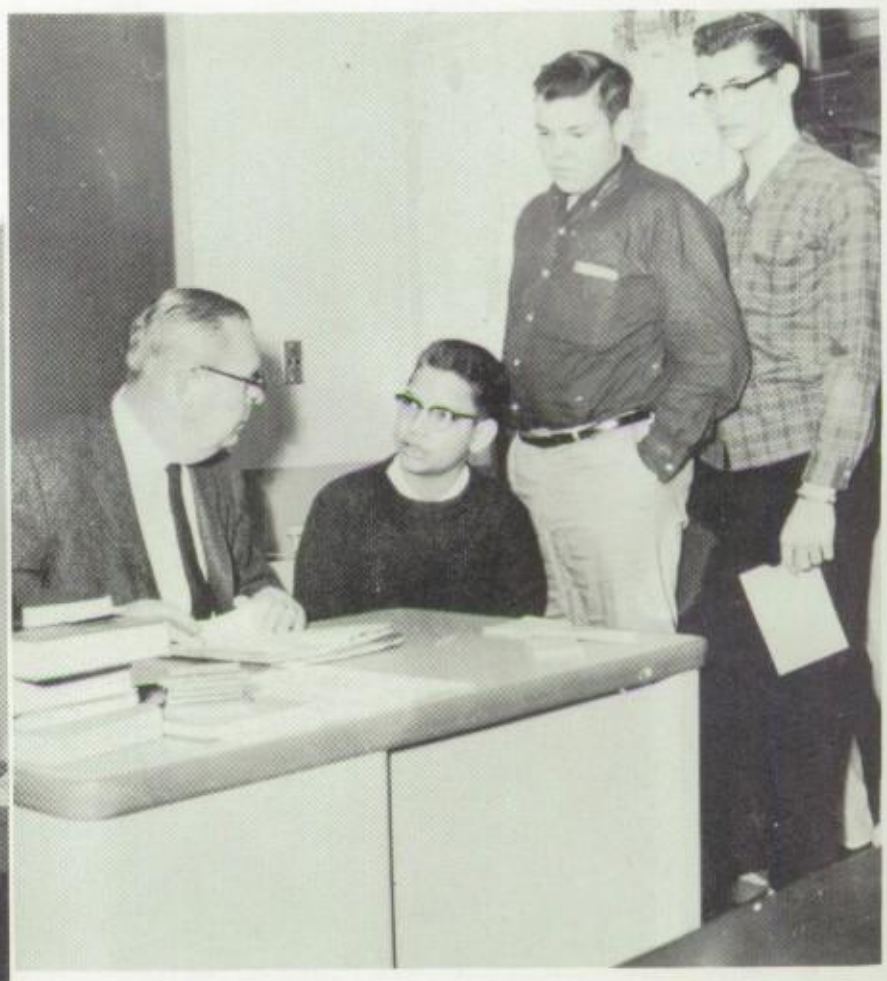
MID-SEMESTERS FINDS US ON OUR BEST BEHAVIOR

Several members of the committee for the evaluation of our school confer outside the auditorium before making their report . . Mrs. H. Pann, Mr. M. Zimmerman, Mr. L. Dunkle, Miss I. Hoover, Mrs. J. Crunick, Dr. F. Tanger, chairman, and The Reverend L. Beirster, assistant chairman.

Susan Watkins, Student Council member, serves coffee to the evaluating committee hard at work in their B202 headquarters . . . Mr. H. Schoener, Mr. W. Hickman, Mr. R. Radel, Miss D. Fenner and Mrs. N. Berkheimer.



Mr. Shoemaker confers with Ronald Saylor for a few moments before giving the biology grade at semesters. John Waterworth and Terry Wambaugh await their turn.

FOR THE CLOSE SCRUTINY OF EVALUATORS

John Kmetz seems to enjoy collecting first semester trigonometry books and passing out advanced algebra books to Jay Wolf and Sam Laucks for the new semester.

. . . whose coming has created many extra-special tasks for students and teachers alike. Beginning with their own self-evaluation last spring, the faculty has been busy ever since then to be ready for D-days—January 17, 18, 19. Anxious to hold the rating for our high school, they also urged students to co-operate. Further encouragement has come from the Student Council representatives who reminded everyone of areas which could use some improvement. The arrival of the eighteen evaluators, who are all Secondary School educators themselves, was accompanied by scrubbed halls, gleaming windows and beaming faces. During their three-day stay at Red Lion the evaluators visited classes, met with students and held conferences of their own to accumulate their findings. Their composite recommendations and praises will determine whether or not the high school is accredited by the Middle Atlantic States Association of Secondary Schools—an important decision for each and every student.

It was with a little sigh of relief (and a blinding snowstorm!) that our visitors were bid farewell. But for some students the worst was yet to come. The change in semesters also indicates the issuing of reports cards and the exchange of some special classes for new courses and new teachers. This year mid-semester was a busy and sometimes nerve-racking time for everyone.

This chemistry test is a real challenge to the 12B section; Pat Flaharty works away on a question from the blackboard while Raymond Arnold manipulates his slide rule. As usual Mr. Shaffer has done his best to make the test "interesting."

LEONID IS REALLY IN FULL SWING; LION STAFF

"Time out for pizza!" was the cry for Dale Hinkle, Charlie Sechrist and Mr. Shaffer as they haunted the darkroom late one night in order to meet make-up's plea for more pictures.

Somewhere in the rainbow is a color for the cover for the '61 LION. Mr. Ridgeway amusedly awaits the decision of the chiefs-of-staff—photography organizer Barry Lutz, editorial head Wendy Baerreis and make-up chief Kay Taylor, who have drafted the services of proofer Trisha Bonness.

RACES TOWARD THE FEBRUARY DEADLINE

Money, or the lack of it, is the concern of the LION'S business staff as they check senior accounts . . . Betty Smeltzer, Linda Grove and Patsy Burke.

"All the news that's fit to print" is the slogan of the Leonid staff. As editor-in-chief Gail Sweeney posts the reporter's assignments, feature editor Joyce Shue and sports editor Larry Orwig compile the articles into an interesting newspaper.

It's so nice to have a man around the activity office . . . just ask LION typist Janeen Taylor! Tim Cope has turned repair man as fellow LION workers Elenora McKinley and Gloria Newcomer give their support. Apparently the Leonid's typist, Janet Arnold, is in no need of Tim's able assistance.

WE REACH OUR AIM SCHOLASTICALLY, BUT

These fellows sitting in the library attentively studying their sports magazines are proud and rightfully so; Glenn Wise, Wilbert Brenneman and Charles Sechrist have just been elected to the National Athletic Scholarship Society! They've got that rare combination of brains and brawn.

Judy Tarbutton and Jetty Craley decided to make the best of the snow and quench their thirst at the same time . . . typical senior carryings-on.

SOCIALLY WE MUST GIVE IN TO THE SNOW

Snow has some advantages but it also causes cancellations . . . Mary Smith and John Sheffer examine the poster for the "Cupid's Caper."

ADDING SPARKLING ENTHUSIASM

. . . they struggled to find their way in the enormous new school. The new group of freshmen, straight from the realms of junior high school, soon made their presence felt with their vim, vigor and vitality. Certainly their first objective was to become acclimated to the new surroundings and companions . . . and this was no small task. A few frosh even got lost in the maze of halls and staircases!

However, once they got into the swing of the routine and found out about the wide variety of activities, clubs, offices and publications, they became a spark of life in almost every activity. They attended sports events, built a float for the West York pep rally and even decorated bulletin boards to brighten up their homerooms or classrooms. The freshman football team compiled enough wins to capture a co-championship and the all important head-raising cheerleaders in a great showing came in second in county competition. As for size, the class is quite large, boasts four sets of twins, and is arranged in eleven sections for classes. Speaking socially or numerically, Red Lion High knows there are freshmen around!

Freshmen Robert Taylor, Marie Kopp, Sharon Druck, Joyce Fruchey, Jo Mary Sherron find that the freshmen get-together is doing just as its name suggests . . . providing fun and friends.

WELCOME, FRESHMEN, TO THE SENIOR HIGH!

Freshmen have troubles, sometimes more than their share . . . for Kathy Bonness it's a matter of uncooperative books. Sharon Fisher finds the predicament as amusing as Kathy does.

Who says girls are more talkative than boys . . . Lynn Markel thoroughly enjoys this argument between Jerry May and Lonnie Knisely.

ACCEPTING RESPONSIBILITIES WITH A GRIN

. . . with the step up from freshman to sophomore, there comes a certain amount of added responsibility. There are many projects that the class must undertake . . . sports events, dances and pep parades are some of the main events of the year. Their first project was decorating the football field, on which they did quite a satisfactory job. Soon afterwards they constructed a very clever float for the West York pep parade, which, after all the excitement of building and parading, came in second only to the juniors . . . a grand achievement for the up-and-coming sophs! They've certainly done their bit in increasing honor roll too, and have acquired a reputation as bulletin board specialists. Sports affairs find a good number of sophs, both as spectators and participants, especially since this year the fellows who had experience on the freshman teams are now eligible for the junior varsity . . . and a good number of the players on J. V. teams were sophomores. Socially they intend to do their share too. They've planned a dance for the spring with the catchy theme, "April in Paris," and they're counting on a success.

Sophomores manage to get their fingers in everything . . . Barbara Zarfoss is the subject for Mr. Blatner's demonstration, while Mike Kunkle watches.

LAST OF THE UNDERCLASSMEN, JUNIORS

. . . fulfilling their last year under the title of underclassmen compile for themselves a number of honors. They got off to a slow start on field decorations, but with time, grew better. They changed what was the usual procedure of the Federal Cigar Company into a humdrum of extraneous noises, while busily hammering away at their winning float "Rollin' to Victory," for the West York pep rally. In December they sponsored a successful Christmas dance enjoyed by everyone who attended. Scholastically the juniors did well and claimed a large number of the students on the honor roll as well as the distinguished honor roll. Joining with the seniors they helped produce the play, "Doctor Hudson's Secret Journal." The junior-senior play being a drama brought a change from the usual, and the juniors on the cast added that extra spark. Each year students longingly wait for the prom and this year is no exception especially since it will be primarily a Junior Class project. The juniors merrily roll on with hopes of making their very last years their very best.

Tom Galbreath, Raymond Behrensen and Paul Hoffmaster enjoy running to get in shape for their track meets this spring. Track team practices began long before all the snow was gone so the runners did their laps in the gym.

PLAY DAY . . . March 11 . . . The day set aside for the G.A.A. sponsored competition with girls from Eastern, Columbia and Dover will be a busy but fun-filled day for the winning teams from the Monday night basketball tournaments. They will play volleyball and enjoy eats and talk with the other athletes; it promises much fun.

SAINT PATRICK'S DAY DANCE . . . March 18 . . . The cancellation of the valentine dance provided the opportunity to have an Irish affair, complete with shamrocks and leprechauns. The seniors are hoping to sponsor a big success. Carson's Cats will provide the music, both the listening and the dancing variety.

CAREER CONFERENCE . . . April 14 . . . Doctor, lawyer, Indian chief—whatever your choice, it will be represented at the Career Conference. To be held during school hours, this year's conference will offer two sessions, the first for specific careers and the second along more general lines.

FORECASTS A NEW BURST OF ACTIVITY

FINE AND PRACTICAL ARTS EXHIBITS . . . April 14 . . . The exhibits of the work from the Fine Arts Department and Home Ec Department promise an enjoyable evening.

YORK-ADAMS PRESS CONFERENCE . . . April 17 . . . the annual get-together of all the publications staffs from York and Adams counties will be held at Red Lion this year. It will include the informative sessions on journalism as well as a dinner and dance afterwards. LION and Leonid staffs will host the affair.

Hosting the York-Adams Press Conference is a big but enjoyable job . . . publications editors and their advisers meet in the activity office for a quick preview of responsibilities . . . Joyce Shue, Miss Keeports, Kay Taylor, Miss Clevenger, Wendy Baerreis, Barry Lutz, Larry Orwig, Gail Sweeney.

Carson's Cats who livened up the Student Council dance will be around to provide the entertainment at the press conference.

David Rost, looking forward to playing golf this spring, practices putting in his living room. The golf team of which Dave is a member, will again participate in league competition this spring.

APRIL IN PARIS . . . April 15 . . . The inviting theme to this dance suggests a wonderful evening full of French atmosphere and the dreamy-type music that the dance band provides; and that's just what the sophomores intend. The dress will be semi-formal, right in keeping with the rest.

BERMUDA HOP . . . April 22 . . . This freshmen sponsored informal dance promises some fun and entertainment that the whole class will have a hand in.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTIONS . . . April 25 . . . A change in government is on the agenda. Candidates for president, vice-president and secretary will be nominated and two weeks before the election campaigning will begin.

NIGHT OF MUSIC . . . April 29 . . . The program planned by Mrs. Adams and Mr. Ward will include selections by the Girls Chorus, Boys Chorus and Mixed Chorus, the Concert Band, Orchestra and Dance Band.

ALL LOOK FORWARD TO COMING EVENTS

The baseball bug strikes again . . . with the first faint whiff of spring air, many masculine thoughts turn to baseball, and these fellows are all anxious to be considered for the 1961 team too. They turn to the clipboard for information.

Jim Klinedinst works the kinks out of the clarinet solo he'll play for the Night of Music. Evidently trumpeter Bob Hess isn't having as much success.

VARSITY CLUB DANCE . . . May 6 . . . The school's athletes are planning to present a real bang-up affair with a gangster type theme.

SPRING BAND CONCERT . . . May 14 . . . Red Lion High's Concert Band plans to bring an afternoon of delightful music to Fairmount Park again.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM . . . May 26 . . . The crowning social event of the year will be the spring prom . . . the formal dance from nine to twelve, movies afterwards and then the all-night party at the Country Club.

FOR THE CLASS OF '61, DREAMS AND HOPES

The officers of the Senior Class—vice-president Don Rau, secretary Janeen Taylor, president Michael Young and treasurer Dennis Keesey—pause for a moment in the hall for a short conference.

One step nearer to graduation, measurements for caps and gowns . . . Mrs. Uhler measures Janet Arinsburg's head while Larry Williams measures Karl Patterson's height. Waiting in line are Paul McCliment, Linda Wilhelm, Sylvia Warner, Mary Schoomaker, David Deitz and Trisha Bonness.

The announcement committee borrows the activity office to decide on '61 graduation announcements . . . Mr. Wagner, the Josten representative, Mr. Tome, class adviser, Joyce Shue, Trisha Bonness, Barry Lutz, Mike Young, Bonnie Finn, Larry Orwig.

WILL BE REALIZED WITH JUNE COMMENCEMENT

. . . '61 seniors arrive at the end of their last year. The class has chosen its colors, mint green and white . . . the colors which will be on the graduation announcements. Now they prepare for those short ceremonies that will make them alumni. Class Day will come before the rest . . . each phase of the class will be represented and the rest of the student body will get the chance to see the talents of '61. On June fourth, seniors will quietly parade into the auditorium for baccalaureate services; Dr. Alfred Thomas will speak to them on their place in the world and a combined choir from all the churches in town will sing. June fifth will bring commencement; the seniors in their gray caps and gowns will solemnly march to the stage to receive their diplomas from Mr. Sample and then they will be alumni . . . a proud and joyous step forward.

Pam Geesey is giving Mary Schoomaker the works in preparation for the junior-senior play. A smile for actress Mary may be difficult after make-up artist Pam completes her task.

RED LION'S WHO'S WHO ON HORACE MANN AVENUE

Jeff Douglas gladly contributes his pencil to Linda Burns in the pencil drive B 302 initiated after Salom Rizk's inspiring talk.

. . . they are the seniors of '61 . . . their motto: "Proud of the past, anticipating the future." And the past four years for the class include much to be proud of . . . floats for the West York pep rally, field decorations, dances, honor roll records and much more. This year the float for the big game had the three witches from "Macbeth" at their evil best brewing up some real trouble for West York. Although the float prize went to the juniors, the seniors came out on top in the field decorations. They did up their theme, homecoming, in grand fashion by putting the mottoes of past graduating classes around the field on the fence. Seniors also helped to fill the honor rolls substantially . . . both brains and brawn add to the pride of '61. Socially, they planned on a valentine dance but the weatherman had different ideas. Snowed out, the undaunted seniors tried again with a Saint Patrick's Day dance, good old Irish fashion.

Soon graduation and commencement will be behind the class of '61 and they look forward to their future with mixed feelings . . . eager anticipation, calm acceptance and perhaps even a few reluctant sighs. As seniors become alumni, high school days will become memories.

Diplomats at work . . . Floyd Warner and Robert Good represent the student bodies of Red Lion and D'town respectively during the second exchange assembly between the two rivals. Advisers for our neighbors enjoy the conversation too.

FINIS

June '61 . . . the end of a year, the end of a book. We've presented a record of the year in the LION . . . the events, the experiences, the memories, but mostly the people, for we feel the people in school are the most important factor in determining the success of the year. The faculty and administration who keep the school ordered and efficient; the cafe and maintenance personnel who keep it shiny and comfortable; the patrons and community members who are so willing to lend a helping hand and the students who try to take advantage of all the opportunities and put forth their best efforts at the same time . . . all of them are essential to the success of the year. Each person connected with our school has had something to add, a special talent, a warm personality, a job well-done, an attentive mind . . . and certainly everyone took with him something useful from his contact with Red Lion Senior High. Everyone contributed something . . . everyone gained something. And we have included them all . . . for everyone is part of the WHO'S WHO ON HORACE MANN AVENUE.
